A Song, Then a Fight.
First Freight by Air.
Senator Bingham Alert.
40 to 80, Best Years.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

(Copyright, 1928.)

WHAT impression did our civilization make on foreigners arriving in the Zeppelin when they landed and were "entertained" at Lakehurst?

We know what would have happened if the Zeppelin had landed from another planet among our cave ancestors 200,000 years ago. The entertainment would have been made up largely of fights, which would have been natural among cavemen.

AT LAKEHURST the program of entertainment which Dr. Eckener attended read:

"Boxing, 160-pound class, four rounds.

"The Yankee Rhythm Boys.

"Boxing, 160-pound class, four rounds.

"The Darliv Sisters, singing a patriotic song."

And so it went—a song and a fight, a fight and a song, to the end.

IT MAY be necessary even in these days of submarines, poison gas and air flying, to make our soldiers and sailors box to amuse officers.

But is it really necessary to force upon intelligent foreigners a realization of the part that prize fighting plays in our civilization?

Couldn't we, for instance, have two patriotic songs instead of one for each fight?

THE Zeppelin brought the first air freight from Europe to America. Future Zeppelins of great carrying capacity may find usefulness and profit as freight carriers. Their air displacement is too great for them ever to be useful for speed.

The future air freight carriers, however, will not, like this Zeppelin, be covered on the outside with cotton that the wind can blow away.

They will be made of metal, a mixture of aluminum and other metals, harder than ordinary steel, lighter than this Zeppelin.

That has been accomplished already in theory. And our Navy is building the first all-metal dirigible.

CONGRATULATIONS to Senator Bingham, of Connecticut. Sitting at luncheon in Washington, he saw the Zeppelin flying overhead and thought it the business of a Senator to know as much as possible about such an arrival.

He hurried from luncheon to the Anacostia naval air station, got in an airplane, started after the big dirigible, passed it, landed at Lakehurst to wait for it to come down.

He will be able to tell other Senators and the President, who saw the great machine flying over Washington: "Another machine like that, NOT friendly, could have blown the Washington Monument, Lincoln Memorial, White House and Capitol, Supreme Court included, into fragments. We ought to think about that, and be prepared."

BENJAMIN STRONG, chairman of the Federal Reserve Bank, only 56 years old, dies of overwork and constant strain.

Business men ought to realize it takes 40 years to understand business thoroughly, and the years from 40 to 80 are needed to use knowledge acquired before 40.

IN THIS campaign the Democratic party repudiates officially the old Democratic party low-tariff ideas.

Gov. Smith assures voters that he will give to labor and industry tariff protection that it requires.

Much of our labor and industry need more protection than they have now.

FOR instance, foreigners send into the United States, so this writer is informed, 1,500,000 tons of manufactured steel annually.

That does not mean competition with big steel companies only, but especially competition with labor, which labor realizes.

Every ton of manufactured steel made in America represents $30 in labor cost. Bringing in 1,500,000 tons of foreign steel means that $45,000,000 worth of work that might have been done by Americans has been done abroad.

THERE must be reciprocity, some opportunity for foreigners to deal with us; otherwise international commerce would stop.

But the tariff should be high enough at least to offset the difference between foreign and American labor costs.

SINCE the country must have airships, be thankful that the Postoffice, under Postmaster General New and President Coolidge, concentrates intelligently on the air mail.

Capt. Sumner Sewall, traffic superintendent of the British Colonial Airways, says this country, more than any other, has developed flying at night, due almost entirely to the Postoffice Department.

Night flying is the most important flying for defense in air attacks on cities.

WYLIE AVE. BROKER SLAIN

Shot through the heart, and with his hands bound behind his back, Abraham Sussman, 55, of 3602 Bates street, was found dead beside a looted safe in his pawnshop at 1317 Wylie avenue shortly after 10 o'clock this morning.

Thousands of dollars' worth of unredeemed jewelry, principally diamonds and watches, together with several hundred dollars in cash, were taken from the safe, every drawer and deposit box of which was rifled.

Sussman's son, Louis, 17, made the gruesome discovery. He found the front door of the pawnshop locked, but thought his father had stepped out for a moment on business. He unlocked the door and proceeded to open the shop for continuation of the day's business. At the cage where his father was wont to make loans and transact the business of the pawnshop, his eyes fell upon wild disorder. The doors of the safe stood wide open, the drawers which had contained unredeemed pledges lying around on the floor. The pledge book, opened at the latest entry, was on the counter.

FINDS BODY

The son hurried around to the cage door at the rear and almost stumbled over the prostrate form of his father. He ran from the shop screaming and attracted the attention of Patrolmen Bert Wrenn and Martin Joyce. They returned with the terrified youth and notified the city detective homicide squad.

Crowds quickly gathered and reserves were sent from the Center Avenue Police Station. Eva Sussman, 21, a daughter employed by her uncles, Sussman Brothers, manufacturers of burlap bags in Fifth avenue, rushed to her father's pawnshop upon hearing of the tragedy. She collapsed on the floor. Friends from adjoining business houses cared for her until the arrival of other members of the Sussman family.

An autopsy at the morgue showed that Sussman had been shot twice, once through the heart and once in the right arm. Two bullet holes were found in the shop, one through a window and another in the wall.

Members of the homicide squad fixed the time of the shooting at

RAIDED FOR TONG WAR ARMS

When city detectives early today raided the home of Yee Haim, Hip Sing tong chieftain, 2531 West Liberty avenue, on a "tip" that arms for tong warfare were secreted there, they found Yee Haim and these two young girls, Betty, 20, and Elizabeth Leonard, 15, sisters. Betty told detectives in the raid that she was Mrs. Yee Haim, but denied it in Morals Court today when she and her sister were held for further investigation.

Girl Tells She Set Fire, Killing Child

Calmly admitting, county detectives say, that she set fire to the home of her aunt, Mrs. Mary Hecker, 223 Delaware avenue, East McKeesport, last evening, causing the death of Claire Peterson, 3, Marie Hecker, 16, unwed mother, was being held to await action by the coroner.

She could not tell why she had set fire to the five-room dwelling which had been her home, she told the detectives, but detailed her actions in starting the fire, which cost the life of a neighbor's child. A cousin of Marie, Mamie Hecker, 6, was rescued by neighbors.

According to the detectives, the girl said she was left in the house with her baby, the Peterson child and her cousin, Mamie Hecker, while her aunt, Mrs. Mary Hecker, and Mr. and Mrs. Peterson went to McKeesport to attend a movie. After they had gone, the girl is said to have told detectives that she set fire to a basket of clothes in the kitchen, then fled with her baby, leaving the two other children locked in the house. The home was destroyed.

Today County Detective James Reddington was sent to investigate, and the girl, it is said, confessed that she had started the fire.

CITY TO HAIL ZEP

The Graf Zeppelin will be asked to land in Pittsburgh!

Elaborate plans are being made by the Aero Club for the reception of Dr. Hugo Eckener and his gallant crew upon their visit here as soon as the giant trans-Atlantic air liner is made ready for her inland cruise before returning to Germany.

Capt. Hal Basley, commander of the Three Hundred and Twenty-fourth Observation Squadron and secretary of the Aero Club, will lead Pittsburgh's birdmen into the air as the official welcoming committee and every available ship and pilot will be pressed into service for this big event.

Aero Club, city and county officials will participate in the program of welcome. If Dr. Eckener decides to bring the big Zep down here, the National Guard will be called upon to provide a landing crew of 200 men necessary to man the drag ropes for ground mooring.

None of the local air fields is equipped with mooring mast of any description, but it would be possible to land the big air bag and moor it by ground ropes, local airmen say.

The Graf could land and lay over for several hours, it is said, giving Pittsburgh an opportunity to pay homage to Dr. Eckener and his crew. In case this is done, it is believed likely, city and county officials will take an active part in the welcome, providing an elaborate program to give Pittsburghers opportunity to greet the intrepid German fliers.

In the event the Graf does not land here, Mayor Charles H. Kline said today, he probably will arrange to transmit his official greetings and best wishes to Dr. Eck-

Cool Wave Due Here Tonight

Relief from the autumnal heat wave is due tonight, Forecaster W. S. Brotzman announced today. Rain will fall, accompanied by a drop in temperature to between 55 and 60 degrees.

The mercury this afternoon reached 82 at 2 p. m., within one degree of the record for this date, established in 1881. Rain was reported over a wide area in the West and the wet belt was nearing Pittsburgh late today, Brotzman said.

SMITH RIPS 'ECONOMY'

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.
International News Service.

SEDALIA, Mo., Oct. 17.—Gov. Al Smith closed his border states tour today firm in the belief that they all—Tennessee, Kentucky, Missouri and Oklahoma — have been won to his banner.

He left rural Missouri today with assurances from state leaders that if there ever had been any doubt about Missouri's 18 electoral votes there was none now.

Ahead of the New York Governor as he faced eastward today is Illinois and his own Atlantic seaboard.

Gov. Smith is going to make a real bid for Illinois and its 29 electoral votes, which only once have ever been cast for a Democratic candidate for the presidency—in 1912.

Tonight he will reach Chicago. He will stay there tomorrow and Friday. On Friday night he will speak at the One Hundred and Thirty-first Regiment armory.

En route to Chicago today, the New York Governor will make a number of stops in Illinois, notably at Springfield and Bloomington.

CLOSES IN WEST

Gov. Smith closed his campaign west of the Mississippi here in Sedalia last night with a slashing attack on the Republica fiscal record of the past eight years. He paid his respects particularly to "Coolidge economy" and in the process he accused his Republican opponent, Herbert Hoover, of being a party to the "deliberate misrepresentation" of the Republican record.

As he has done on other aspects of the Harding-Coolidge administration, Gov. Smith ripped into the record aggressively. The Republicans, he said, have deliberately tried to give the country "a false picture" of the nation's financial history for the last eight years. Republican economy, he said, was a

BRITISHER HOPS OFF IN BABY PLANE

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Oct. 17.—(AP.)—Commander H. C. MacDonald, English aviator, took off from Harbor Grace today in a moth type airplane in an attempt to fly across the Atlantic Ocean to England.

His plane is but a midget compared with Lindberg's "Spirit of St. Louis." Known as an aerial sport car, the Gypsy Moth had been secretly preparing at the Star Line Airdrome in London for many weeks for the flight. It has a wing spread of only 26 feet and when emptied weighs less than 800 pounds.

Extra fuel tanks were fitted to the plane, giving it a range of about 35 hours, sufficient for 3,000 miles cruising.

The engine has only 80 to 100 horsepower, compared with Lindbergh's 250. It is a four-cylinder air-cooled motor. Tests have shown that it can run without trouble for periods of 24 hours and more.

NO WIRELESS

The plane is too small for wireless in addition to its other load, and floats would be useless to keep so tiny a machine afloat on the Atlantic rollers.

NOT FLYING WEATHER

Commander MacDonald, who is an officer of the British navy, had announced that he would not attempt the flight if the weather was not favorable by mid-October. Reports received here from Harbor Grace today indicated that it was none too favorable when the young aviator determined to wait no longer.

His take-off consequently came as a surprise. His little plane left the ground at the Harbor Grace airport at 11:51, Pittsburgh time. The plane carried 100 gallons of fuel.

28 YEARS OLD

Flight Commander H. C. MacDonald arrived from England with his De Haviland Gypsy Moth Plane on September 26 with the announced intention of attempting a trans-Atlantic flight from Harbor Grace.

MacDonald, who is 28 years old, came to Newfoundland about three weeks ago. He said he had had only 80 hours of flying.

MacDonald said that the flight was being financed privately. He was assisted in preparing for the flight by A. F. Williams, a mechanic who accompanied him from England.

NOTHING SPECIFIC

The Rev. James R. Cox, pastor of Old St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church, will not be subpenaed to tell of vice in the grand jury room where the investigation goes on of Alderman J. J. Verona's charges that vice and graft are synonymous with politics in Pittsburgh. That was decided today when Father Cox conferred with District Attorney S. H. Gardner, who said Father Cox knows nothing specific of vice.

Probe Vote Shootings

Developments today in the grand jury probe of graft in Pittsburgh and Allegheny county were:

1—District Attorney Gardner began an investigation of the shootings and murder which attended last September's primary election fight.

2—The Rev. James R. Cox, author of graft charges, conferred with Gardner, but produced information "largely general."

3—Abe Berkowitz, former Woods Run saloonkeeper, was called to tell of the 31 raids on his place because, it is alleged, he refused to "kick in."

After District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner had decided that the Rev. James R. Cox, who has become disgusted with the graft system in this city, could add nothing personally to the grand jury's knowledge of vice and collusion, he turned to the September primaries of 1927—primaries that were featured by guns, shootings and murders.

PATROLMAN SUBPENAED

Gardner had subpenaed Patrolman T. W. McGuire, presumably as a starting move in this new phase of the investigation. After one of the two political gun battles of last September McGuire was suspended. Later he was fired. A few weeks ago he was re-instated.

At the time it was announced that McGuire had been suspended for attacking an Oakland policeman who had been arrested by the late Capt. Tony Forrester. The battles which preceded the clash of police against police had seen two innocent bystanders wounded by gunmen speeding along Forbes street in autos.

Just 24 hours earlier another innocent bystander, John Rohan, 19, was fatally shot by political thugs who "got" the wrong man.

Before Gardner turned to this investigation of crime and its alliance with politics he announced that Father Cox, pastor of Old St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church, had given him information "largely general." That information Gardner said he would use as "leads."

EVIDENCE

With him into the conference Father Cox took a letter from Investigator Nannie Oppenheimer, of the Juvenile Court, alleging that Stanley Zygio, 11, of 1333 Penn avenue, had been sold moonshine in a Strip saloon. Gardner said he would "take appropriate action" on the case.

Before the conference Father Cox reiterated to newspapermen his charges made in a radio address Sunday night that police allowed vice to exist and shared its profits. He said, however, that he knew nothing "specific."

WOULDN'T "KICK IN"

Abie Berkowitz, who now conducts an auto accesory store at 3220 Brighton road, was on hand today in answer to a subpena, ready with the story of his raiding feud with Inspector Charles Faulkner, of the North Side. Thirty-one times Faulkner's police raided Berkowitz's place when he was in the sa-

Civic Club Awaiting Censure

The Civic Club of Allegheny County will reply to City Council just as soon as a copy of the resolution censuring the club is received by that organization, Maurice R. Schraff, president, said last night. The copy sent to the club by Council has not yet been received, Mr. Schraff said.

The resolution was introduced by Councilman Robert Garland on Monday, asking that the club withdraw its published statement in opposition to increasing Pittsburgh's limit of bonded indebtedness. Council will hold an open forum Friday afternoon to discuss the proposed amendments to the state constitution, one of which will increase the bonded indebtedness of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Schraff refused to comment on council's action inasmuch as he had not received a copy of the resolution. He did state, however, that if he and other members of the club were invited to the Friday meeting the club would be well represented.

Delay in the Delivery of The Sun-Telegraph

THE delay in the delivery of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph to many of its readers yesterday was due to the unexpected walk-out of its truck drivers.

These employes never had appeared before the management of the newspaper as an organized body or as individuals. Nor have they ever presented any demands. Their quitting work on Tuesday was at the direction of a non-employe not a resident of Pittsburgh.

The Sun-Telegraph distributed its papers yesterday as promptly as possible under the circumstances and hopes to have normal delivery today.

In the meantime it begs the indulgence of its readers as a victim of circumstances it could not control.

LAWYERS WANT BENCH FREE OF POLITICS

"Burning Mine" Residents :-: Threaten Parade to County Commissioners :-: All Appeals in Vain

MIFFLIN TOWNSHIP

Their lives and homes are endangered by this burning mine, residents of McElhaney Plan, Mifflin township, say in asking County Commissioners for aid in extinguishing it.

PIT MOUTH

This is one of the pit mouths at which the mine burns. Almost the whole hill beneath the ground is burning, residents say. Two lives, now, have been lost.

DEATH SCENE

Here Edward Schaff's life was lost two days ago. This trench was dug in efforts to save him. A 70-year-old man, helped by residents, brought out the charred body.

APPEALS IN VAIN

All appeals are in vain, residents say, and, if necessary, they will parade to County Commissioners to demand action. State, township, and county have taken no cognizance of the fire.

LAWYERS WANT BENCH FREE OF POLITICS

With a view to taking the election of judges out of politics, so that attorneys may be elevated to the bench because of their ability rather than as a reward for party service, the opinions of the 776 members of the Allegheny County Bar Association on the subject are being canvassed today.

Each member found in his mail this morning a questionnaire containing 26 questions, bearing on this and other matters, and prepared by a special committee on revision of the by-laws.

There are about 1,200 other lawyers in the county who are not members of the bar association. The survey on the judiciary question is confined to the association.

The members are asked if the association shall conduct referenda upon candidates for the judiciary exclusively by mail; if judicial referenda shall be held before the dates fixed by law to qualify for partisan nominations; if judges in commission shall be voted upon in such referenda; if the association shall recommend for appointment to vacancies, when appointment is to be made by the governor or by the President of the United States, only the candidate receiving the highest vote in the referendum, or more than one candidate; if the association shall advocate the nomination and election of the candidates receiving the highest votes in bar judicial referenda; if the bar association committee on judiciary shall suggest candidates for judgeships by procuring signatures and filling partisan nomination papers, and a number of other kindred questions.

Several times since the death of former President Judge John D. Shafer in September, 1926, the members of the bar association, through committees and special resolutions, have tried to formulate a plan for conducting judicial referenda and passing the consensus of the attorneys as to which of the candidates would make the best judges on to the people. But the attendance at the meetings called to consider the matter never was large enough to warrant the adoption of a permanent plan. Hence the questionnaire.

'Fox' Goes To Death Chamber

SAN QUENTIN, Cal., Oct. 17.—(AP.)—William Edward Hickman, sentenced to hang Friday for the kidnaping and slaying of Marian Parker last December, is to be transferred tonight from his cell in condemned row to the death chamber adjacent to the room in which he will be executed. The move is in accordance with prison routine.

It was said at the prison last night that Warden James B. Holohan had declined to convoke a board of Marion county physicians to pass on the youth's sanity.

Gov. C. C. Young, in denying appeal's of Hickman's attorney and father yesterday, told them that Warden Holohan's decision would constitute Hickman's last chance of escaping the noose.

FAREWELL TO WORLD

Hickman today issued a farewell message to the world:

"I believe that if the people simply followed the Golden Rule, the world would be free of evil. I don't want any young man to study my crime, for all can see where it has led to.

"My mind was so warped by over-education that I became a fiend incarnate, living without consideration of mercy toward mankind. I decided to kill a human being as a supreme experiment, to test my limitations. I even planned to lead the career of a super-criminal, masking my activities under the guise of a Christian minister.

"If I had not been caught when I was, I would have undoubtedly committed even greater atrocities than the murder of Marian Parker."

The next part of his remarkable statement told of his repentance and of how he was studying the Bible and of other books he was reading. The statement proceeds, revealing his attitude toward his impending death:

"I have no fear of death. I feel that through confessing my sins I shall have everlasting life. I wish to deny that I intend giving my body to science. I have no personal aversion to it, but my mother objects."

The statement then went on to discuss the discord in his home. Hickman declared that this might have had something to do with his downfall, but, he added, "it is largely my fault."

Weather Conditions.

The Plains states low pressure area made little progress eastward. It is now a well defined disturbance, centered over Missouri. Lowest barometer is 29.74 inches, at Columbia. The disturbance produced rains everywhere in the Central valleys, during yesterday and last night; light rains generally, but heavy in some sections. At Evansville the fall was 1.92 inches; Cairo, 1.58; Memphis, 1.62; Nashville, 3.50; Shreveport, 1.56; New Orleans, 2.10; Galveston, 3.10, and Corpus Christi, 3.72. It is raining this morning over the Ohio Valley states, the Lake region and most of the Mississippi Valley states.

A ridge of high pressure stretches from Minnesota southward over the Northern plains and the Rocky Mountain states to New Mexico, and another well defined low pressure area overlies the Canadian Northwest and southward over the Pacific Coast states.

Mild temperatures prevail everywhere east of the plains. In North Dakota and southward over the Rocky Mountain states the temperatures are near freezing.

River Conditions.

Only light rains occurred over the rivers yesterday and last night. The rivers are still stationary at low stages. Stage at Pittsburgh, 4.7 feet; Dam No. 2, 8.5; Dam No. 6, 7.5. The dams are up.

While Gardner and the priest conferred, county detectives were busy raiding the saloon of Jacob Reis, 519 Brownsville road, Mt. Oliver. Reis's bartender, Andy Haag, had testified before the grand jury a short time before. The sleuths returned to the detective bureau with Reis and 15 pints of alleged whiskey.

Today's other raid victim was Hattie Ramsey, Negro, of Plum alley, McKees Rocks. Because of testimony of McKees Rocks residents, the sleuths visited her place and found two quarts of homebrew beer. They arrested her.

There were 20 witnesses waiting to testify when the grand jury reconvened after a four-day vacation this morning. But one of them was not ex-State Senator William Wagner, of Mt. Oliver. County detectives who have been serving hundreds of subpenas had to report to Chief George Murren that they couldn't locate Mr. Wagner.

Among the witnesses present were Stanley Orie, brother of Police Magistrtate Orie; Matt Cavanaugh, Liberty avenue host, and C. W. Riefer, of 1334 Lincoln avenue, East End. It was not announced just what they could contribute in support or denial of Alderman John J. Verona's charges that Mayor Kline's police force subsists, in part at least, on graft.

The witnesses who appeared to testify were: James Ryan, 124 Greenfield avenue; John Lostetter, janitor, Moose Club, 128 Ormsby avenue, Mount Oliver; Andy Haag, 519 Brownsville road; Robert Nelson, 115 Wooster street; J. R. Wamble, 1900 Center avenue; George A. Hahn, 505 Market street; Theodore Roeschenthaler, 246 Hays avenue, Mount Oliver; William A. Small, 153 Brownsville road; John Sauers, 136 Brownsville road, second floor; Mrs. Mary Gideon, 136 Brownsville road, first floor; Christ Johnson, 253 Brownsville road; Flora Kirstein, 1131 Anthony street; William A. Pack, 527 Market street; Mat Schutz, 313 Church street; William F. Ammon, 209 Moyer street, Mount Oliver; William J. Ennis, 221 Brownsville road; Harry J. Agely, 1104 Sheffield street; John J. Winkler, Locust street; Horace McCullough, 3465 East street; H. W. Studt, 4927 Dearborn street; Carrie Pendley, 417 Second avenue; Margaret Green, Negro, 210 Locust street, McKees Rocks; Mrs. William Calle, 5635 Hobart street.

COUNTY WORKS DIVISION GETS NEW AUTOMOBILES

CHESTER COUNTY HOOVER'S, PENNA. POLL LEAD HIGHER

Herbert Hoover will win Chester county, with a decisive margin over Gov. Alfred E. Smith, on the face of complete returns from that county in the straw vote canvass of Pennsylvania conducted by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

The Republican standard bearer receives 88 per cent of the Chester county vote in the poll, a substantial increase over the Republican strength in 1924, when President Coolidge received 76 per cent of the county total.

The poll in this southeastern county gives Hoover 1,272 votes and the New York executive 170 votes. There are 54 women in the Hoover column and 6 supporting Smith, the latter figure including 4 desertions from the Republican party. Among the men, 64 are shiftnig from Davis to Hoover and 92 from Coolidge to Smith.

The La Follette vote of 1924 is shifting on the basis of 12 to Hoover and 13 to Smith. Eighty Hoover voters and 22 Smith supporters did not vote in 1924. The city of Coatesville, which has one of the largest steel mills in the state, is supporting Hoover strongly, giving him 161 votes to 37 for Smith.

The Pennsylvania poll, conducted in connection with the nationwide canvass by the Hearst papers, has reached a total of 88,794 votes, with Hoover leading by 23,022. The latest totals are Hoover, 55,908, 45,022 men and 10,886 women Smith, 32,886, 25,406 men and 7,480 women.

This vote in 1924 was divided as follows: Coolidge, 61,150, 49,097 men and 12,053 women; Davis, 9,675, 8,150 men and 1,525 women; La Follette, 5,433; not voting, 12,526.

N. Y. GIVES OVATION

International News Service.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—A tremendous ovation was accorded Dr. Hugo Eckener and the members of his staff on the long flight from Germany today as they left their quarters in the Hotel Warwick in West Fifty-fourth street, to attend the luncheon given in their honor at the Advertising Club.

Several thousand persons, many of whom had stood outside the Warwick for hours, cheered and shouted good wishes as the party emerged from the hotel, and it was only with difficulty that police cleared a way for the fliers.

Dr. Eckener and his companions bowed and smiled in acknowledgement of the ovation and seemed greatly impressed by the warmth of the demonstration.

Dr. Eckener hopes to start the return trip to Germany in the dirigible within 10 days.

Repairs to the dirigible's damaged wing are expected to be completed at Lakehurst, N. J., within two or three days. The ship then will be taken west on a trial flight, perhaps as far as Chicago.

"I hope we can fly to Pittsburgh, Akron, Detroit, perhaps Chicago and other midwest cities," Dr. Eckener said.

G. O. P. ECONOMY RIPPED

myth, and to substantiate his charges he cited budget figures showing that the cost of government has increased steadily every year under the Harding-Coolidge administration.

"False statements, misrepresentation, concealment of the truth, all of these things have meant nothing," he said. "So long as the mythical picture could be sustained in all its falsity in the mind and the vision of the American people."

He ridiculed some of the money-saving devices put in under the budget direction of Gen. Herbert M. Lord, such as "using paper on both sides," and "searching waste basket for discarded paper clips and pencil stubs."

"I am not decrying these economies," he said. "I am as strong as a man can be for economical and efficient government, but what I am finding fault with is the urging of this as a basis for the false claim that because of this kind of economy the people of the country, through the instrumentality of the Republican party, have been saved billions of dollars. That is not true."

Gov. Smith quoted Mr. Hoover as saying that "by rigorous economy Federal expenses have been reduced by two billions of dollars per annum."

SMITH CALLS G. O. P. WRONG

"No more misleading statement could be made than that," he said, "and for a man who uses figures the way Mr. Hoover does I am surprised he would make that kind of a statement to the American people. He knows just as well as I do that the difference between the 1921 expenditures of the government and the 1927 expenditures are the differ nce between operating the government in time of war and time of peace. Not by any stretch of human imagination can that be credited to Republican economy. That statement is not so. And I challenge the Republican candidate to make it good."

Gov. Smith cited the budget figures for the executive department itself to support his point that the Coolidge administration increased governmental expenses rather than decreased them. He cited the White House appropriation of $210,000 in 1921 and the $686,000 appropriation in 1927, six years later.

"But that is the year we put a new roof on the White House," he said, "So we will make allowance for that. So lets take the 1928 figures, when there was no roof. In 1928 it cost $528,000 an increase between 1921 and 1928 of over 100 per cent."

The Governor drew a laugh from his audience by saying he didn't object to spending money to make the White House safe "For if there is a man in the United States who wants the White House safe to live in I am that man."

The final address West of the Mississippi was delivered to an enormous audience that jammed every nook and cranny of the live stock pavilion of the State Fair grounds. The estimates of those seated in the huge enclosure ran from 15,000 to 20,000 and despite a drizzling rain. There were thousands outside.

It was a field day for the Democrats of Central and rural Missouri. They drove into Sedalia by thousands. During the afternoon they listened to state candidates and at night to "Al."

Everywhere Gov. Smith went about rural Missouri he was sponsored by Charles M. Hay, the Democratic senatorial candidate for "Jim" Reed's seat. Hay is a militant dry, but he isn't letting that fact interfere with his advocacy of Smith's selection.

Hay preceded Gov. Smith on one program at the Fair Grounds last night. And while the thousands of dry, Protestant rural Missourians listened attentively, he said:

"I care not whether he is wet or dry, whether he be Catholic or Protestant, Jew or Gentile, there is not a man in Advocacy of Smith who can read the record of Gov. Smith without respecting it. He is not only an honest man but a man incapable of sitting in the midst of dishonesty and criminality.

"And if there is one thing we need in America today it is the voice of militant honesty."

Gov. Smith was introduced to his rural audience by Senator Harry B. Hawes of St. Louis.

"Gov. Smith is what we call in this country a square shooter," said Hawes. "He speaks squarely about the issues of this campaign. We know where he stands on everything. When replies come from the other side they come from the political captains of a candidate who is afraid to speak for himself—A creature of political appointment, and not political preferment. Our candidate speaks frankly. His opponent reads an essay."

The audience of some 17,000 "ate up" the evening of Democratic oratory. Early this morning the flivvers of rural Missouri were still struggling to get out of Sedalia's traffic jams.

Gov. Smith was scheduled to leave Sedalia at 10 a. m., his schedule called for reaching the railroad yards of St. Louis about 2:30. There the train will be rerouted through Illinois Chicago-bound.

FEUD CLAIMS THIRD IN ONE FAMILY

Gang vengeance, which wreaked death on two members of the Andolina family here in the last several months, leaped to Erie last night and claimed the life of a third.

Anthony Grimaldi, 52, owner of a drug store at 802 West Eighteenth street, Erie, was shot to death by an unidentified assailant, as he sat in the fish market of a friend, according to dispatches from Erie today. The slayer used a sawed-off shotgun, which contained a shell of 25 caliber lead bullets, police said.

The first victim of the feud, Nick Andolino, 75, retired merchant, the father-in-law of Grimaldi's daughter, was shot to death as he stood in his flower garden in Mayflower street three months ago. His slayers fired from an automobile.

On September 27, Antonio Andolino, a nephew of Nick, was slain in front of 1619 Penn avenue, as he was seeking the slayers of his uncle. One of a gang fired three shots into him and he dropped dead before he could draw his revolver.

Three suspects were arrested charged with being accessories to the murder of Antonio Andolino. Two of these were released from jail under bond several days ago. A third still is in jail.

BANDIT KILLS PAWNBROKER

approximately 8:45. Mrs. Fannie Blakes, who resides in the rear of the shop, said she heard shots a short time before "the school bells rang." She said she was in the yard across an alleyway from the Sussman shop hanging out clothes, but thought nothing of the shooting until apprised of the murder.

VICTIM BALKS

Piecing together bits of evidence uncovered at the scene of the crime, detectives are of the opinion that the robbery and murder was the work of one man. The slayer is believed to have entered the shop with a pawn ticket or a request for a loan and while transacting business at the cage he is believed to have drawn a gun and held up the pawnbroker. It is not known whether Sussman put up a struggle or not, but indications are that he attempted to balk the robber who fired point blank, the first bullet piercing the heart and the second the arm as the pawnbroker spun to the floor. Then, detectives believe, the robber tied Sussman and dragged him out of the cage, where he left him dying while he ransacked the safe.

Sussman's establishment had been robbed several times before today, city detectives say, and on one occasion Sussman fired on a Negro holdup man.

Sussman had been in the habit of opening the pawnshop about 7:30 every morning, members of his family told detectives. He left at the usual time this morning, and Louis, who helped his father in the shop, left home shortly before 10 o'clock. Sussman leaves his widow and eight children, ranging in age from 3 to 21. Mrs. Celia Sussman, the widow, was stricken when notified of her husband's death and the eldest son, Manuel, 24, of 5514 Hays street, was called in to take charge of his father's affairs. Other children surviving the pawnbroker are: Shirley, 3; Paul, 6; Lilly, 9; Frances, 12; Louis, 17; Belle, 18, and Eva, 21.

PEDESTRIAN SEIZED, ROBBED IN SOUTH SIDE

Walking past a crowd of Negroes in Carson street at Twentieth street early today, C. R. Small, of 811 Brownsville avenue, was seized and robbed of $20, he told police. The men surrounded him, and while some of them held him, others searched his clothing, he reported.

She was born in Germany, but lived the greater part of her life in Pittsburgh. She was the mother of Henry Terheyden, well known Pittsburgh jeweler. She was a member of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Bloomfield; the Christian Mothers' Society, Third Order of St. Francis and the League of the Sacred Heart. $4,500,000 ASKED FOR RIVER IMPROVEMENTS

Increased demands for river transportation facilities on the Mississippi and its tributaries have made it necessary for the board of advisors, Inland Waterways Corporation, to ask Congress for an appropriation of $4,500,000 to be used in the construction of improved terminals along the Mississippi and additions to the Federal Barge Line, it was revealed here today by Wilmer M. Jacoby, a member of the board.

The improvements are needed, particularly along the Mississippi from New Orleans to St. Paul and on the Warrior River. Recommendations have been submitted by the board to the budget committee of Congress.

Under contemplation for next summer is the construction of three up-to-date towboats and a fleet of 65 steel barges. This equipment would be ready for use for the following season, it is assured. An important program has been worked out for improvement of facilities at St. Louis, where additional trackage is needed. A grain elevator and sugar warehouse is proposed at Cairo. Other important improvements are under consideration for the terminals at Helena, Ark., and Birmingham, Ala.

Expenditures of $2,510,000 are proposed for the lower Mississippi, according to Jacoby, who pointed out that operations in this section have shown profit since the operation of the barge line. A total of $350,000 is asked for the upper part of the Mississippi from St. Louis to St. Paul, which has been included in the barge line service only during the past year. The sum of $450,000 is needed on the Warrior River, according to Jacoby. This section will show a profit for the first time this year, it is pointed out.

Members of the board of advisors include: Maj. Gen. T. Q. Ashburn, chairman and executive; James E. Smith, St. Louis; W. M. Jacoby, Pittsburgh; R. A. Brown, Birmingham, Ala.; M. J. Sanders, New Orleans; S. S. Thorpe, Minneapolis, and Henry E. Halliday, Cairo.

ASK LANG FOR DATA IN BOARDWALK MUSS

Director Edward G. Lang, of the Department of Public Works, yesterday was requested by Council to furnish, next Monday, reports from the accounting division of conditions in the division of boardwalks and steps.

A copy of a letter forwarded last week by Lang to Charles A. Hillegas, superintendent of the Bureau of Highways and Sewers, complaining of "chaos" in the boardwalk and steps division, was dismissed by Council with a request for the clerk to furnish each councilman with a copy of the communication.

Lang's letter was prompted by revelations developed when R. M. Armstrong, foreman of the boardwalk and steps division, submitted a report on a $15,000 deficit in an appropriation of nearly $100,000. The report was severely criticized by Council when it was learned that Armstrong ordered lumber from an authorized dealer at a higher price than was agreed upon by the Bureau of Supplies after competitive bidding.

Besides the report requested from the accounting division of the Department of Public Works, Council also asked for a report from the City Controller as to the condition of the boardwalk and steps division.

HOOVER TAKES LEAD IN MISSOURI POLL

By CHARLES N. WHEELER,
Noted Political Analyst.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—For the first time since the big campaign got under way Herbert Hoover takes the lead in Missouri in the nation-wide Hearst poll today.

The figures are:
Hoover, 12,277.
Smith, 11,797.
Hoover lead, 480.

These totals are made up of returns from 80 counties of the state, with the largest single block representing St. Louis city.

What is disclosed by analysis of these tabulations is that the total vote of the state on November 6 will aggregate about 1,500,000, with at least half a million votes, and possibly slightly more, cast in the two cities of St. Louis and Kansas City.

ALL SMITH IN ST. LOUIS

St. Louis has gone plumb crazy over Smith, while the other metropolis on the west side shows about the same degree of brain storm, but pro-Hoover.

The St. Louis figures are:
Smith, 7,721.
Hoover, 4,869.

The percentage is 62 Smith and 38 Hoover.

Four years ago the total vote in St. Louis was about 265,000. The registration this year is about 60,000 greater than ever before. After erasures due to duplications and other causes, the St. Louis eligible total will remain probably around 350,000.

While it is not likely that the total enrollment will function on November 6, the most conservative figure would reach at least 300,000. And on the percentage basis shown in today's Hearst poll, Smith would come out of the Anheuser-Busch citadel with an indicated lead of 72,000.

Accustomed as we have been these many years to write down St. Louis about 60,000 Republican plurality in national elections, this 72,000 figure is almost unbelievable. But that's what the poll as of this morning shows.

Intelligent and discriminating observers on the ground put Smith's probable lead in St. Louis, if the election were to be held today, at 25,000 to 50,000.

They reserve the right to change these estimates, but it seems certain that the Tammany chieftains are going to take St. Louis, lock, stock and barrel.

KANSAS CITY HOOVER'S

And now come some computations from the other side of the state that are even more startling.

Kansas City also has the largest registration in its history, about 200,000, an increase over the highest previous mark of approximately 17 per cent. What may be significant about this registration is that the women went to the polls in avalanche fashion.

The poll this morning, while just getting under way in that section, shows:

Hoover, 1,424; percentage, 70 plus.

Smith, 562; percentage, 30 minus.

It is conservatively estimated that at least 175,000 ballots will be put in the boxes in Kansas City. Carrying out the above percentages the final division would be:

Hoover, 123,500.
Smith, 52,500.
Hoover lead, 71,000.

It is more than likely that as the poll is extended more generally to all sections of Kansas City, the Hoover percentage will drop quite a bit.

Newspaper scouts trekking back from the whirlpool estimate Hoover will carry Kansas City by 25,000 to 50,000. David Lawrence thinks 15,000 may be enough.

The Literary Digest poll, meantime, gives Missouri to Hoover by 60.7 per cent of the total vote in the state, which, based on the probable total of 1,500,000 votes, would give Hoover 910,500 to 589,500 for Smith, or a Hoover plurality in the entire state, including St. Louis and Kansas City, of 321,000.

Such a political miracle may eventuate in Jim Reed's state, but it seems altogether unbelievable, in view of the surface indications, particularly since the Hearst poll up to this time has shown Smith slightly in the lead.

RURAL VOTE TO TELL

But whatever the unforseen developments, one thing is quite certain, that is this:

St. Louis is going for Smith by a considerable margin. It may be 10,000 or 20,000 or even 50,000.

But on the other hand Kansas City is going for Hoover. It may be 25,000 or more. It may not be more than 15,000. But Kansas City is going to clip the Smith wings in St. Louis by at least half the plurality Smith rolls up in the latter city.

Say then that Smith carries St. Louis by 20,000 and Hoover carries Kansas City by 15,000. That would give Smith a 15,000 lead with which to sally out into the rural districts, where there are two-thirds of the vote.

Every poll and every impartial report thus far shows that Mr. Hoover is going to run circles around the Tammany farmers in nearly all sections of the state outside of St. Louis and St. Louis county, even though there are exceptions here and there.

Taking out the 500,000 votes of St. Louis and Kansas City, there are left about an even million voters in the so-called out-state territory, which is anti-Tammany and dry by a slight margin.

If Hoover should poll 52 per cent of these he would get 520,000 to 480,000 for Smith, or a plurality of the out-state vote of 40,000, which would wipe out the next Smith lead of 15,000 in St. Louis and Kansas City and give Hoover the entire state by 25,000.

Coolidge carried the state by more than 75,000 and Harding's plurality over Cox was 152,000.

SPROUL DRAWS ANOTHER 100 DOWN TRAIL

One hundred persons professed conversion last night at Glory Barn, Carson street, where Evangelist John W. Sproul preached to approximately 2,000 persons. More than a score of persons went forward to be healed and many of them declared they had been helped through their faith. Dr. H. N. Harvey, of Erie, an evangelist friend of Mr. Sproul's, pronounced the closing prayer.

Mr. Sproul announced that on Thursday night he would hold baptismal services and on Saturday night he would broadcast his sermon from radio station WJAS. Last night again, as on many other nights, Evangelist Sproul preached on healing through faith.

He said in part:

"Healing played a prominent part in the ministry of Jesus and of the early church. We make no apology for preaching on the subject.

"Many professional followers of Jesus Christ feel that one should always add, 'If it be Thy will' to their prayer for Divine healing and yet they go to the physician or surgeon seekin health—asking no careful questions as to whether or not it is God's will for them to be well again.

"Jesus has no favorites—all who touched Him were made whole. The reason all are not healed today is because the attention is centered upon the evangelist, not on the need of really coming into healing contact with the Great Physician. All who get right with God are promptly blessed in body as well as in soul."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—The Civil Service Commission has announced it would receive applications for the position of prohibition agent up to November 20. The examination will be held in about 400 cities throughout the country.

The entrance salaries for agents range from $2,300 to $2,800 a year. "Applicants must have reached their twenty-third but not their fifty-seventh birthday on the date of the examination," the commission announced, but "these age limits do not apply to persons entitled to preference because of military or naval service.

"The examination will consist of mental tests, practical reports based on the duties of the position, and a rating on training, experience and fitness.

"The finger prints of all applicants who are investigated will be used to check the accuracy of the applicants' statements as to arrest, indictment or conviction for crime or misdemeanor.

"The examination held last year failed to furnish a sufficient number of eligibles for many of the prohibition districts."

SILK STOCKINGS IN DIVORCE PLEA

His wife told him she loved someone else and now has nine pairs of silk stockings, Walter Eyrich, 419 Hasting street, avers in asking for a divorce from Marie Eyrich. The couple married in 1925, the first break coming when the husband says his wife wanted him to rent an apartment for $75 a month which was more than half the salary he was earning at that time. The couple have one child, which the mother obtained through a writ of habeas corpus. Eyrich told the court his wife was living in South Negley avenue and that last year wanted to return to him. The court remarked, this might leave some doubt as to whether a divorce can be granted under the circumstances. The law specifies that a divorce cannot be obtained on grounds of desertion until after a period of two years.

"Patsy," a two-year-old pedigreed Boston bull dog, is the hero of Hanover street, Swissvale. His barking aroused his master and mistress when their home caught fire early yesterday morning and probably saved them from death in the flames. As a result of the dog's warning, J. D. Parker, 35, and his wife, Bernice, of 1914 Hanover street, succeeded in making their way from the second floor of their home over a porch roof to the house of a neighbor next door when flames enveloped the entire first floor of their home.

PASTOR OUSTED BY COURT ORDER

DEPUTIES MOVE FURNITURE

When the Rev. Dr. Frank Dyer, Wilshire Boulevard Congressional Church, fashionable Los Angeles (Cal.) congregation, refused to move, the courts granted those who sought to oust him an order giving the pastor only one-half hour to move all of his belongings. When the time was up, officers moved him. This is the result and a deputy stands guard over the property until the Rev. Dr. Dyer calls for it.

PROSPERITY TO REMAIN HERE, SAYS ECONOMIST

Prosperity will continue in the United States for the next six months, there is nothing fundamentally wrong with business and Pittsburgh will get her full share, George E. MacIlwain, Boston, noted economist, said last night, addressing the members of the Credit Association of Western Pennsylvania, in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium.

He predicted that the last quarter of 1928 would show improvement over 1927; that there would be a continuance of the present prosperous conditions in the steel trade; that the wise should buy coal now as prices will be higher six weeks hence, and that the automobile output will reach its peak in 1928, for a while at least.

As existing money rates are abnormal, he did not look for much improvement until next year, and said there would be a swing downward, culminating in rates again dropping to 3 per cent., six or seven years hence. As to what the future holds in store after the next six months, in his judgment, depends on what the building industry does. He looks for lower building prices, but plenty of road building. Generally speaking, the farmers are doing well and he predicts they will be good customers.

President Sidney B. Congdon presided and stressed points regarding the state credit conference to be held in Uniontown October 26 and 27. At the Credo Club's luncheon at noon, Dr. N. A. N. Cleven, of the University of Pittsburgh, gave the third of his series of talks on South America.

DEAL GETS PROBE WITNESS REBUKE FROM ARMSTRONG

Justus Schroedel, superintendent of county buildings, sensational witness in the Vare-Wilson election probe last week, sold an election booth without first consulting County Commissioners. As the result Schroedel, who also is chairman of the Twenty-third Ward, received a stiff reprimand yesterday from the Commissioners. The booth was sold to Ray McPherson, of Bellevue, for $50.

The first intimation of the transaction received by the Commissioners was when Schroedel yesterday turned over McPherson's check.

"Send the check back to Schroedel and tell him that he had no business selling county property," said County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong. "If any property is to be sold, the Commissioners should at least be notified and permission asked."

Schroedel, during the recent hearing before United States Senator C. C. Waterman on the Vare-Wilson senatorial fight, testified that the Republican campaign committee during the primary election in 1926 paid for and distributed tax receipts to electors promiscuously.

Schroedel admitted to the Senator that he had paid for taxes himself.

U. S. CONVICT ESCAPES

RECAPTURED, HE ESCAPES 2ND TIME HERE

Search was being pressed today for a recaptured Federal prisoner who made his second escape yesterday, this time from the Federal Building here.

Basil Banghart, 28, who two years ago escaped from the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., amid a hail of bullets and was not recaptured until last Saturday, at Bedford, Pa., broke away from a deputy United States marshal on the third floor corridor of the Federal Building.

He ran down the steps to the second floor, rushed through a crowd of clerks and taxpayers in the office of the collector of internal revenue, and dashed down another flight of stairs to the first floor and Smithfield street exit. Followed by deputy marshals and others, he disappeared among pedestrians.

He later eluded a dragnet spread by governmetn officers and police, who searched for him during the night.

SORRY HE FLED

Banghart's record shows he is elusive. A short time before he made his escape from the marshal he expressed regret for escaping from the penitentiary two years ago. He said he did it on impulse and was sorry, because his term would have been up and he would have been free to take up his profession of a commercial aviator.

Sage Tea Turns Gray Hair Dark

By SHIRLEY BLAKE

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture. You can get this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, for only 75 cents, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.

GIFTS HONORED AT HOSPITAL

The board of directors of the Allegheny General Hospital today took steps to preserve in the new hospital structure all rooms and departments endowed as memorials in the present building on Stockton avenue.

Following their decision to see that all existing memorials, given during recent years, are preserved in the coming structure, the directors allocated certain rooms by number.

"This step is being taken in fairness to those who have endowed rooms and ward beds in the old structure," said H. L. Mason, Jr., chairman of the campaign executive committee, "because otherwise confusion might result as new memorials are sold in the coming building."

Why suffer with Rheumatism?

ARE you one of those unfortunates who suffer with pains in your muscles and joints, commonly called rheumatism, making you miserable, less efficient, interfering with your working hours, ruining your sleep?

You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S.S.S.?

S.S.S. is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

For more than 100 years S.S.S. has been giving relief in thousands of cases, as testified to in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

—purely vegetable

You know rheumatism can not be "rubbed" away

"I suffered from rheumatism for a good many years. At times my joints would swell so, I couldn't walk. I tried almost everything. Went to Hot Springs . . . . then finally decided to try S.S.S. I took a course. In a short time the rheumatic pains entirely left me. I am now in perfect health, and want to add that I have tried all kinds of medicines but I think S.S.S. is the best." Earl C. Campbell, 115 West Main Street, Johnson City, Tenn.

All drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Get the larger size. It is more economical.

SQUIRES TOLD METRO PLAN ISN'T RIPPER

Gathered to frame opposition to the metropolitan plan, 51 members of the Alderman, Justice of the Peace and Magistrates' Association, meeting at Hotel Henry yesterday, heard a strong denial that the plan would deprive them of their jobs and political influence.

Joseph T. Miller, chairman of the plan commission, and Prof. Thomas F. Reed, commission consultant, spoke by invitation. They concurred in pointing out that the plan amendment to be voted on in November would not terminate the existence of any municipality in the county and that only through the consent of the people could a change in the minor courts be brought about.

UP TO PEOPLE

Prof. Reed denied that the plan would lead inevitably to the creation of district county courts. This, he said, could not be brought about except by the direct will of the voters, through provisions in the charter which the amendment makes possible.

C. Lowrey Humes, former member of the Metropolitan Plan Commission, spoke in opposition to the plan. He voiced the suspicion that it was meant to open the way for "ripper" legislation designed to break control of the county as represented by the present commissioners. He declared no charter would result from the amendment. Prof. Reed, in return, asserted that the amendment made mandatory submission of a charter to the Legislature.

37 SKIN GRAFTS FOR DRIVER

STRIKE-CLOSED POTTERY MAY BE REOPENED SOON

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Oct. 17.—Owing to a controversy between the kiln placers acting under instructions from the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters and the management of the Shenango Pottery, the big plant here is temporarily shut down. The trouble was caused over the placing of ware in the new tunnel kiln of the plant, for which there is no agreement between the kiln placers and the company. Indications are that a speedy adjustment of the trouble will be made.

MIDNIGHT ENDS THIRD ZAIN PERIOD

Some of the advertisements that have won prizes during the first and second periods of the six into which the $15,000 Zain Ad-Test is divided have consisted of only a few words that could be written in a few seconds. This goes to show that if you have an idea—and an idea may come to you in a trice—you still have ample time to prepare an ad for submission in the third period, which expires at midnight tonight. Even of you never heard of the Zain Ad-Test before this moment you are nevertheless confronted with the opportunity to win one or more prizes of the third period, as well as prizes of the subsequent periods and the $1,000 grand prize to be awarded for the best ad submitted during the entire course of the test.

There is just one day left of the third period—but that day may be enough if you will apply yourself diligently for a short time to the writing of ads and will get them into the office of The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph not later than midnight tonight.

NO PROFESSIONALS

You do not have to know anything of the technical side of advertising. You are not expected to be acquainted with the principles of "layout," type and the like. Professional ad-writers and newspaper employes are barred from the test. Write a short statement setting forth, in convincing language, the good qualities of the products, stores or service to be advertised. You may be able to attract attention with a slogan, jingle or letter. It is the idea that counts.

The Sun-Telegraph acknowledges with pleasure the receipt of a number of letters from prize winners of the first and second periods expressing appreciation of the prizes and of the contest. Several very witty contributions have been received, in which a number of the participating concerns were joined together in the advertisement. Contestants are advised to confine each of their ads to only one firm.

APPRECIATES GIFT

Here are some characteristic letters:

Marion M. Lamb, 2851 Espy avenue, writes: "Yesterday afternoon I received a very pretty strand of Richelieu pearls in a beautiful case as an award for the advertisement I submitted concerning the Peoples Natural Gas Company. I am delighted with my prize, and I shall keep it always as a reminder of the fun I have been having, trying to write ads."

David J. Lester, 84 Lafferty avenue, writes: "I received the prize which one of my ads brought me, and I want to thank you and tell the Sun-Telegraph and co-operating advertisers that I wish them all the success possible in this move to get the buyers of Pittsburgh to voice their knowledge of advertisers and their products. It seems from the strides with which the contest is 'going over' that people do pay a lot of attention to newspaper advertising, the greatest medium for reaching the people."

You will find it is lots of fun to write ads, especially if you get the members of your family and your friends to join with you in it, and then compare your ads, and make suggestions to each other for improvement.

If you think you do not have much of a chance to win a prize, reflect on this: For the third period alone more than 300 prizes will be given by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, and in addition certain special prizes will be given by some of the 39 local business concerns that are co-operating in the test.

CHANCE FOR $1,000

A list of these firms, together with the rules for the Zain Ad-Test, will be found elsewhere on this page. The ads must be written about the business of the 39, and if you desire to be eligible for the $1,000 prize you must write at least one ad about each of them some time during the campaign.

In writing about Arco Specials (stogies) you would do well to weave into your advertisement the slogan of the manufacturers, "All the joy of a good cigar." Go to your favorite cigar stand and buy some Arco Specials. You will find they are very inexpensive, as compared with good cigars; yet you will get all the satisfaction from them that comes from a fragrant Havana.

A point to keep in mind in writing advertisements for the Harris Amusement Company is that it caters at its theaters to all members of the family, hence is careful to keep its shows free from anything offensive to decency. Harris shows are far from dull, however; they are spicy with good, clean fun, and scintillate with sparkling music. Harris movies and vaudeville are the best.

TRY A RIDE

Automobiles cost a lot of money, and it takes a pretty penny to maintain them. There is no getting around that fact. But you can enjoy the pleasure of driving at a comparatively small outlay if you will rent one of the Kissel-Skiles Company's drive-yourself automobiles. Try it, to get material for an ad about the company. They have four stations.

An idea that you would do well to keep to the fore in writing an ad about the General Homes Corporation, Union Trust Building, is that through the service rendered by this company it is possible for persons in moderate circumstances to own their homes and escape the burden of rent paying. Visit their model home at 2439 Brighton road and learn what they have to offer.

Write each ad on a separate sheet of paper, which should be at least as large as a postal card, and preferably commercial letter size. Put your name and address on the back of each sheet, and also on the flap of the envelope in which you mail them. SEND THE ADS TO THE ZAIN AD-WRITING TEST, CARE OF THE PITTSBURGH SUN-TELEGRAPH, PITTSBURGH, PA.

Rules for Sun-Telegraph-Zain $15,000 Ad Test

1—$15,000 in cash and prizes distributed over seven weeks. Grand prize, $1,000. Grand weekly prize, $100. Five prizes each week for best ads written for each concern participating—195 each week, 1,170 prizes in all.

2—$1,000 for best ad submitted during entire campaign. Winners to be selected by committee of Pittsburgh advertising men and women.

3—Ads for third period must be received by midnight, October 17, at the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa. Ads arriving after that time will be automatically entered for the next period, and so on.

4—Ads submitted for the grand prize must be received before midnight on November 15, 1928. In order to compete for grand prize, contestants must have submitted at least one ad on each concern listed.

5—One person may submit any number of ads. The test may be entered at any time. Ads may be written about any one or all, or any product or all, of the concerns listed. A person may win more than one prize.

6—Write only one ad on one piece of paper at least postcard size. Place name of advertiser at top, write words, phrase, poem, slogan, essay or letter. Sign YOUR name and address plainly on BACK of each sheet. Also on the flap of the envelope. SEND TO THE ZAIN AD-WRITING TEST, CARE OF THE PITTSBURGH SUN-TELEGRAPH, PITTSBURGH, PA.

7—Ads are to become property of advertiser to use in any manner he sees fit. No ads returned. No subscriptions necessary. No blanks to sign. No entrance fee required. No coupons to clip. All professional ad writers and newspaper employes barred.

8—In the event of a tie, the prizes will be awarded to EACH winner.

CHOICE TENDER LAMB

PENNSYLVANIA DINERS

"I think I shall not hang myself today."

So wrote a poet famous for his love of "plain thinking and high living."

You, too, will chant that joyous refrain as you relish Rack of Lamb Jardinière—done in the Pennsylvania way.

As you gaze through the diner window, the golden gardens and tawny meadows that flash by will seem to blend with the fruit of the gardens and the meadows you are eating.

CHOICE, tender lamb from which the chine bone and the skin have been carefully removed. Placed in a roasting pan with thin slices of onion, a young carrot and a little crisp celery; properly seasoned; and roasted in a hot oven . . But that's only half the story.

Nor can we reveal all the secrets used by the skilled Pennsylvania chefs before they send that lamb to the table, well-browned, and covered with lamb gravy as smooth as it is thick, to which have been added green peas and little carrots and small mushrooms conspicuous for their delicate flavor. It will prove a delight to the most discriminating palates.

It's a dish so excellently suited to the hungry days of autumn.

It's a leading item this week on the diners of all Pennsylvania trains. Rack of Lamb Jardinière. You'll find it a fine example of the cookery of the Pennsylvania's skilled, trained chefs.

STOP BUREAUS' FUND SWAPS

Mayor Charles H. Kline was asked, in a resolution passed by Council yesterday, to stop department heads from requesting transfers of funds and to request them "to live within the appropriations" granted in the annual budget.

The resolution followed discussion of a request for a transfer of $16,500 from the account for the disposal of garbage and rubbish to other accounts in the health bureau. The transfer was held up by Council pending a reply from Kline.

DOERR HEADS WEST VA. PANHANDLE DRY AGENTS

WHEELING, W. VA., Oct. 17.—A general shakeup in the Federal Prohibition Department took place here yesterday when Joseph J. Doerr, of Fairmont, W. Va., for many years connected with the department, was named chief deputy federal commissioner, in charge of the Northern West Virginia panhandle, comprising the counties of Ohio, Brooke, Hancock and Marshall. He succeeds Alva C. Stautler, formerly of Pittsburgh, who will be transferred to the Fairmont office. Stautler came here six months ago to succeed George B. Heide, who resigned.

It is understood that John D. Pennington, of Pittsburgh, in charge of the Sixth United States Dry Zone, has ordered a general shakeup in the forces and that Doerr will have a new staff of assistants under him. One hundred and sixty cases in which the defendants are charged with violation of the liquor law are on the federal docket for this term.

ZEP FLIER, CAMPAIGNERS AND MUSIC ON AIR

The air will be cluttered with good things tonight. Some very capable politicians will orate for Hoover and Smith and, to round out one of the best oral programs ever given over the radio in a single night, Lieut. Com. Charles E. Rosendahl will tell the story of the Graf Zeppelin's flight over the Atlantic Ocean.

Commander Rosendahl was a guest observer aboard the gigantic airship. He will be introduced to the radio audience at 8:30 o'clock over WEAF and a network of 18 stations. WCAE will be the local station in the hookup.

Some fiery oratory will come from the campaigners. Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, and John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, will speak for Hoover and former Senator Thomas P. Gore, of Oklahoma, will talk for Smith.

Milk and Cocoa--
Blended as in our Famous Milk Chocolate

THE milk's already in Peter's Milk Cocoa, blended with the cocoa and sugar just as our famous milk chocolate bar is blended.

You don't cook Peter's Milk Cocoa. You make it right in the cup just by adding hot water. This hot water merely replaces the moisture that has been removed from the milk.

So there is no "cooked taste" of boiled or heated milk—no scorching—no scum. Nothing to impair the chocolate taste. In Peter's you always get the full natural flavor of rich chocolate.

Peter's Milk Cocoa is prepared in the heart of a famous dairy region with an unfailing supply of the freshest, purest, full-cream milk. Its purity and freshness are safeguarded by the most scrupulous inspection and supervision from milking time until Peter's Milk Cocoa is ready for you in vacuum-packed, air-tight tins.

WITH ORDINARY COCOA YOU MUST BUY 3 THINGS

WITH PETER'S YOU NEED ONLY HOT WATER

Fresh full-cream milk and fine table sugar are already in it. No bothersome cooking, no scum, no scorching, no pans to wash.

READY INSTANTLY!

HUSBAND DISTRIBUTES BOOKLETS

Wife Tries Compound

Every year the Pinkham Medicine Company distributes about 30,000,000 booklets from house to house. Mr. Ted Hinzman does this work in Lodi, California. His wife writes: "It was in these little books that I read about so many women being helped by the medicine. I thought I would give it a trial and I can truly say that it has done me good. My neighbors and friends ask me what I am doing to make me look so much better. I tell them that I am taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

Conquers Cold to Become a Bride!

A disturbing cough and reddened nose, on the day she should appear to best advantage! How lucky that a certain compound will rout a cold in four or five hours! A simple thing.

Pape's COLD COMPOUND to STOP a Cold

in pleasant, tablet form—but it conquers the cold. Quicker than all the things you hear are good for colds. Far better than "doping."

If you feel a cold coming on, this will end it with the first snuffle. If the cold has settled on you, perhaps run into "flu," Pape's Cold Compound will still clear it up if you take several tablets. Druggists ask only 35c for this real relief.

BOOKS TAKEN, MINERS SUING U. S. OFFICER

George V. Craighead, postoffice inspector, was made defendant yesterday in a suit filed in Common Pleas Court for $10,000 by members of the National Miners Relief Committee, alleging that he wrongfully seized books and papers for submission to the grand jury.

The plaintiffs of the committee include Donald McDonald, chairman; Anthony Minerich, secretary, and Vincent Kremenovich.

It is alleged that a subpena served on Alfred Wagenknecht in the office of the committee, 611 Lyceum Building, directing that papers and books be produced before the grand jury, but that these were seized, put in sacks and possessed.

The plaintiffs, charging the seizure was illegal, ask for punitive damages. The subpena, it was stated, was served by Deputy Marshall Goldman, assisted by others.

BALKS HOLDUP IN TRIANGLE

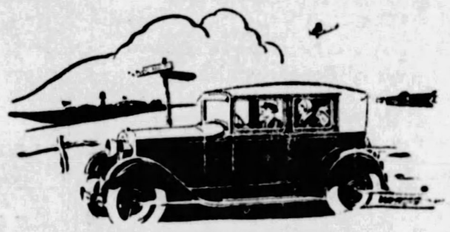
While pedestrians were passing, a lone robber early today attempted to hold up the Schulte Cigar Store at Sixth and Liberty avenues. Frank Cory, clerk, faced the revolver and routed the robber.

The holdup man entered the store shortly after midnight while Cory was preparing to close. When Cory called for help and lunged at him, the robber fled along Liberty avenue, toward Ninth street, and escaped.

HUNTER KILLED AS GUN ACCIDENTALLY GOES OFF

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Oct. 17.—Charles Dye, 17, of Mound Run, Birch district, Braxton county, was killed when his shotgun accidentally discharged on a hunting trip near Sutton. The gun was discharged when the youth sat down on a rock and it rolled beneath him.

To the 5000 who daily become owners of the new Ford car



THE service obligation of the Ford Motor Company and its dealer organization is now growing at the rate of 5000 cars a day. It is to these new car owners that this message is addressed.

The new Ford is a remarkably fine car for one that costs so little. It is simple in design, constructed of the finest materials, and built to unusually close measurements.

These are the reasons it performs so wonderfully. These are also the reasons its service requirements are so few and the up-keep cost so low.

When you receive your new car, the dealer will explain the simple little things that should be attended to at regular intervals to insure the best performance. He will also tell you something of his own facilities for doing this work promptly and at small cost.

With the purchase of your car, you are entitled to Free Inspection Service by your dealer at 500, 1000 and 1500 miles. This service is due you and we urge you to take full advantage of it. Proper care during this breaking-in period means a great deal to the life of your car.

Included in the Free Inspection Service is a check-up of the battery, the generator charging rate, the distributor, the carburetor adjustment, lights, brakes, shock absorbers, tire inflation and steering gear. The engine oil is also changed and chassis lubricated.

No charge whatever is made for labor or materials incidental to this inspection service, except where repairs are necessary because of accident, neglect, or misuse.

The labor of changing the engine oil and lubricating the chassis is also free, although a charge is made for the new oil.

We believe that when you see the good effects of this inspection you will continue to have it done regularly throughout the life of your car.

You will find the Ford dealer very helpful in keeping your car in good running order for many thousands of miles at a minimum of trouble and expense.

He operates under close factory supervision and has been specially trained and equipped to do this work promptly, thoroughly and economically.

Menjou's Wife Gives Place As His Leading Woman to Miss Who Aided Him Once Before

By REGINA CREWE.

(Copyright, 1928, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 14.

WHILE Kathryn Carver, Adolphe Menjou's bride, will remain her husband's leading lady off the screen, she has yielded that place in pictures to another. At least in Adolphe's new film, "Marquis Preferred," the suave star will have little Nora Lane playing opposite him. If you have a good memory you'll recall Nora as the damsel who occupied a similar position in Menjou's picture, "Night of Mystery." Or perhaps you have seen her enact leading roles opposite Fred Thompson in "Jesse James" and "Kit Carson." Nora has just finished playing the feminine half of the young love interest in "The Cohens and Kellys in Atlantic City," in which Universal photoplay "Connie" Keefe has the hero role.

Lucille Powers, who played in several Paramount films, will play second lead with Menjou. Kathryn Carver recently completed work in "His Private Life," in which she is her husband's heroine. She has left paramount lot, at least temporarily, to play a part in a Warner vitaphone production, "No Defense," starring Monte Blue and May McAvoy.

After some uncertainty, Fox has decided to team Lois Moran with George O'Brien again in a film version of the amazing story, "Judith," which will be directed by James Tinling. The picture will have a more attractive name when it reaches your local theater. Louis' latest picture, "Blindfolded," was previewed at Santa Monica. When they whip it into shape the photoplay looks like the finest thing Lois has done since the memorable "Stella Dallas."

Talent seems to run in some families. The Lake family, for instance. For Fox has signed little Florence Lake to a five-year film contract which may lead to stardom. Florence, scarcely more than a child, is the sister of Arthur Lake, whose future is highly regarded at the Universal studios. Arthur's next picture will be "Campus Kisses."

Eddie Nugent, who has been making great progress since he was promoted from prop boy to juvenile leads in Metro photoplays, is to be loaned to Fox for the biggest part he has thus far played. It is in a picture to be directed by Howard Hawks, but as yet untitled. It is a yarn of night life and Broadway, with a wise-cracking characterization for Eddie in which he should shine. There is to be both sound and dialog via "movietone."

Patsy Ruth Miller was to move her makeup box over to the Tiffany-Stahl lot for the leading role in a photoplay to be directed by James Flood. But Eve Sothern, who is under contract, finally got the part. Its tentative title is "The Girl Who Came Back," which seems sufficiently interesting to be the title under which the picture will finally be released. When Eve completes this picture she will take her first vacation in several years. It will be spent abroad, and while she is there she will combine business with pleasure by getting some shots for her following film, "Helen of London."

The first dialog to be put into a Pathe picture is that now being inserted in Lina Basquette's starring vehicle, "Show Folks," in which she and Eddie Quillan strut their stuff before camera and microphone. Lina, formerly of the "Follies," is an accomplished dancer, and Eddie also shakes a mean hoof, so Director Ben Glazer has them both doing some stepping in the picture. Incidentally, Lina sustained a slight injury in one of the sequences, from which she is limping a little. The principal players in Pathe's "Sal of Singapore," "Ned McComb's Daughter" and "The Spieler," have all been recalled to the studio for dialog via the RCA "Photophone" device, which records picture and sound on the same film.

Don Byrne's story, "Changeling," will be called "Stranded in Paradise" when it emerges from the First National studios as a motion picture. This is the one which co-stars Dorothy Mackaill and Milton Sills, and for which they recently cruised to the South Seas on a location trip with Director George Fitzmaurice. Dorothy's next will be "Children of the Ritz," n whch the popular Jack Mulhall-Dorothy Mackaill team will be back together again. Forrest Halsey has the screen version of the story all ready for the film.

Nancy Carroll is definitely set for the feminine lead opposite James Barton in Paramount's picturization of "Burlesque," which will be directed by Victor Fleming. Jimmy Barton, by the way, sprang into fame from burlesque back in 1919, when he filled a gap in a benefit performance during the actor's strike. Ed Wynn was supposed to appear, but an injunction prevented, and Barton "wowed" the show as a substitute.

HERE AND THERE :-: WITH ACTOR FOLK :-: FILM AND FOOTLIGHT

Lillian Gish is to return to the screen in "The Miracle Woman," to be directed by Dr. Max Reinhardt, noted European stage director.

Dorothy Stone and Will Rogers talking over "Three Cheers," the new Stone vehicle in which Rogers is pinch-hitting for his disabled friend, Fred Stone, Dorothy's father.

The Duncan sisters have taken their musical show, "Topsy and Eva," to London and here we have them "taking tea" on the stage of the famous Gaiety Theater.

Billie Dove now appears before the camera without cosmetics, made possible through improved lighting. Her new picture is "The Night Watch."

LOCAL WOMAN AUTHOR

A Sewickley woman, Reita Lambert, in private life Mrs. Arthur Nevin, and Zelda Sears are co-authors of "The Imperfect Lady," in which Pauline Frederick will be seen next week in the Pitt. Miss Sears also acts in the comedy, which, as "The Scarlet Woman," played last season in Los Angeles and last summer in Detroit. Thomas Holding is the leading man. Seats are on sale.

McIntyre and Heath, a blackface stage team that endured more than 50 years and which has been associated with many musical successes and has been featured between times in vaudeville, will be stars of a new musical piece coming to the Alvin next week. "Headin' South" is the title of their new vehicle. Seats are available now.

A new melodrama, "Davy Jones' Locker," will be presented next week in the Nixon. It combines pirate treasure with trans-Atlantic aviation and mutiny, according to advance announcements, and it is to be presented by a company headed by Selena Royle and G. Pat Collins. Thursday brings the opening of the seat sale.

Irene Ricardo, singing comedienne, will headline the Keith-Albee vaudeville in the Davis next week, presenting a new version of "Whoa, Pagliacci!" Johnnie Hines will be seen on the screen in "The Wright Idea."

SLAG RURAL ROADS NOW, M'GOVERN URGES BOARD

Calling his colleagues' attention to much needed repairs to township roads, County Commissioner C. C. McGovern yesterday proposed that the Public Works Department begin as soon as possible improving such roads so that when winter comes the farmers will be able "to get out of the mud." Commissioner McGovern said the county could secure 1,000,000 tons of "red dog" free. "All that is necessary is to have it hauled away," said the commissioner.

FRIEDA ZELDA HILK

Engagement of Miss Frieda Zelda Hilk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hilk, Homestead, to Louis M. Strauss, son of Max Strauss, Morrowfield apartments, is announced.

HOW much longer is this golden Indian summer going to last, I've been wondering for a long time, and I daresay you have, too. Every morning one expects to open his eyes on a cold, drizzly day, typical of late fall. And remember November is not far away! Everyone is taking advantage of autumn's sunny mood, and enjoying every minute of it.

One much feted member of the younger set is Alice Walton Childs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Childs, of Albemarle street, who will marry Oliver P. Nicola, Jr., son of the Oliver P. Nicolas, of the Schenley Apartments, I mention to refresh your memory, on Thursday, October 25.

Mary Childs, who came out last season, will give a "spinster" dinner in the Childs' home this evening for Alice. It's quite nice, don't you think, for girls to have some of the same social rights as well as the same political rights as their brothers? It's become quite as customary nowadays for girls to have a dinner with friends of their own sex before one of the group is married as for the future bridegroom to have a bachelor dinner.

Miss Helen Murdoch will give a luncheon tomorrow in the Allegheny Country Club for Alice.

Of course, there will be a theater party, which the Lewis Parks will give Tuesday night. And a supper party in the Pittsburgh Club will follow.

A NUMBER of parties are being given for another fall bride, Lois Anne Watt, daughter of the Charles Montgomery Watts, who will marry Charles Nelson Higgins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Higgins, of Glenshaw, Saturday.

On Saturday Katherine Meyers, one of the bridesmaids, gave a bridge luncheon in the Pittsburgh Athletic Association. And last night Caroline Ertl gave a dance there for the bridal party and friends.

This evening the bridegroom will have his bachelor dinner and tomorrow night Katherine Higgins, sister of the bridegroom, who will also be a bridesmaid, will entertain with a bridge and supper in the Wildwood Country Club. Friday night Alice Taylor, who will be maid of honor, will be hostess at the rehearsal dinner in the Pittsburgh Field Club.

LATE fall is always marked by the annual benefit of the dispensary board of St. Margaret's Hospital. This year the ball will be given on Friday evening, November 30, in the University Club.

MRS. WILLIAM FORD MORELAND is general chairman for the event. And assisting her are Anna K. Childs and Mrs. Stanley N. Brown, who will have charge of tickets; Mrs. Sidney Stewart, of boxes; Margaret McClintic, of the supper; Mary Louise Johnston, a debutante of last season, of entertainment; Mrs. Donald Rodgers, of cigarets; Mrs. Harvey Childs III, of the floor committee, and Mrs. Charles S. Wunder, publicity.

Officers of the board of the hospital are all well known in the social world—Marjorie Gethoefer, president; Mrs. Louis Schmertz, vice president; Marjorie Kimball, secretary, and Josephine Nicola, treasurer.

THE very last day of the month has been chosen by Cora McClay for her wedding, I hear. Cora is a daughter of the Samuel McClays, of Devon road, and she will marry Stanley Logan Yonce, of Duluth. The ceremony will be performed in the afternon in the Episcopal Church of the Ascension by the Rt. Rev. Alexander Mann, bishop of the Pittsburgh diocese.

LAST night at 8 o'clock, at a candle-light wedding in her home, Miss Lois Olivia Linhart, daughter of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Black Linhart, of Allequippa street, became the bride of Dayton Leslie Grabill, of Montreal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie L. Grabill, of Toronto. Dr. Linhart performed the ceremony before an altar of greens. The bride wore white flat crepe embroidered with crystals and trimmed with rose point lace, with a court train of the crepe edged with crystals. Her veil of Princess lace was caught at the head with rose point lace, and she carried yellow Pernet roses, orchids and lilies of the valley. The matrons of honor were Mrs. L. Arnold, of Toledo, O., sister of the bride, wearing a bouffant frock of orchid taffeta, and Mrs. Edward Linhart, her sister-in-law, appearing in sunset gold taffeta. They carried bronze and orchid dahlias. Kyle Grabill, of Toronto, was his brother's best man and the ushers included Edward L. Linhart and Kenneth L. Arnold. A dinner and reception followed the ceremony, with covers laid for 18 at the bridal table, which was decorated with fall flowers. Mrs. Linhart wore blue velvet, while Mrs. Garbill appeared in black lace over cloth of gold. Mr. and Mrs. Grabill will motor in the South and after November 15 will be at home in Montreal. Among the out-of-town guests were the bridegroom's parents: Mrs. J. D. Wetz, of Columbus, Ind., and Mrs. W. L. Fritz, of Harrisburg.

A COUNTRY club party to be held in November is a dinner dance which Mrs. Francis D. Glover, of Howe street, will give for Janet MacGregor, daughter of the John W. MacGregors, of South Negley avenue. The date is November 10 and the affair will be held in the Longue Vue Club.

SAFE HOMES ESSAY CONTEST ANNOUNCED

AS a follow-up of the five safety talks given recently over the radio by the Western Pennsylvania Safety Council and the department of education of the Congress of Clubs, the Safety Council, through its home safety division, announces a contest for the 10 best 200-word essays on "Home Accident Prevention." The first prize is a membership in the Congress of Clubs and the list also includes books of taxi tickets and ice coupons, a merchandise certificate and other valuable awards.

The judges are Mrs. E. P. Schempp, chairman of the home safety committee, department of education; Mrs. C. W. Kenney, vice chairman, department of education; Miss Xina Long, principal, Beechwood school; J. V. Long, Better Traffic Committee, and Roland G. Deevers, principal, Taylor Allerdice High School.

The awards will be made on November 14 in the Congress clubhouse when the educational department holds its "Thanksgiving No-Accident Month" luncheon. Speakers at the luncheon will be Coroner W. J. McGregor, the Rev. Waldo Lloyd and George E. Clarkson. Music will be by Mrs. Dale Whitby Westphal, accompanied by Mrs. Bertha Gross King.

"WOMEN in politics must be fair and unemotional; they must have the masculine viewpoint, but with all a woman's innate fineness," said Mrs. Q. W. Hershey, of the County League of Women Voters, in addressing the Town Club at its luncheon meeting yesterday in the Congress of Clubs. "Prohibition does not enter into a presidential campaign," Mrs. Hershey went on, "the president has no power with regard to legislation. He can only appoint enforcement officers. If you want legislation, concentrate on your congressmen and senators. Try to understand what your government will need and will have to face in the next four years and choose your candidate accordingly." National issues from a wholly nonpartisan viewpoint were discussed by Mrs. Hershey, after a comprehensive resume of the 14 amendments to be voted upon November 6. On these Mrs. Hershey presented what she termed "both sides of the picture." Mrs. E. M. Garwood, the club's new president, occupied the executive chair for the first time.

THE Wednesday Afternoon Club of Carnegie Institute of Technology is holding its first meeting this afternoon at the home of Mrs. L. R. Guild, Bartlett street, Squirrel Hill. Mrs. R. M. Ihrig is president of the club for this year.

ANOTHER club which has adopted the convenient indexed-indented type of year book is the Regent Square Woman's Club. "Highlights on the International Art Exhibit," a children's Christmas party, a talk by Mrs. Charles Morris Johnson, an evening meeting for the husbands of members, a lecture on wild flowers by Dr. O. E. Jennings, one on "Wills and Estates," by George F. Lloyd, election of officers and the closing luncheon are the program events listed in the new books.

THE Woman's Literary Club of Bellevue began its regular program meetings yesterday in the home of Mrs. J. Freeman Guy. Mrs. A. E. Crockett, Mrs. W. K. Allen and Mrs. R. J. Gibson had papers on "Before the Curtain—Thirteenth Century," "Early Italian Painting—Giotto" and "Masaccio and His Followers," and Mrs. George E. Campbell gave current events. Mrs. Frederick P. Moore, department president of the American Legion Auxiliary, told of the San Antonio convention, which she had attended.

* * *

MISS SARA JAMISON LOGAN, contralto, accompanied by Miss Martha Hutson, will give a recital as a feature of the president's day reception to be given Friday afternoon in the Roosevelt Hotel by the Pittsburgh Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy. Frank C. Harper is to speak on "The Newspaper of Today," and Miss Miriam Schonfield will speak in behalf of the welfare fund. Mrs. Elder Marshall and Mrs. Heber Ker, Jr., will preside at the tea table. Mrs. Robert F. Metcalfe, who is serving her second year as president, is honor guest.

OWING to the death of Charles Heinz, whose wife and daughter are members of the Aspinwall Woman's Club, the organization has canceled its meeting for tomorrow afternoon.

* * *

INVITATIONS have been sent out by the Woman's Club of Carnegie for a reception in honor of the new president, Mrs. Harvey Bigham, in the home of Mrs. Case A. Foster, Washington avenue, Thursday, October 25. Mrs. L. H. McMillen, chairman of the social committee, is taking responses.

Vladimir Horowitz
Y. M. & W. H. A.

Sonata (Apassionata) op. 57..Beethoven
Assai allegro. Andante con moto. Allegro, ma non troppo.
(a) Two Intermezzi (op. 118,119)..Brahms
(b) Rhapsody op. 119.
(a) Fantasy f. minor.....Chopin
(b) Two Mazurka.
(c) Three Etudes.
Jeaux deau.....Ravel
Doumka (Scene rustique, russe).....Tschaikowsky
Virtuosic Variations on Two Themes of "Carmen".....Horowitz

When Vladimir Horowitz began his piano recital at the Young Men and Women's Hebrew Association last evening, it required but a few bars of Beethoven to convince us that we had no ordinary pianist before us. And then during his entire program we were more and more dazzled by the superb pianism, in which the music too was nearly always of transcendent quality.

It was always cerebral music, not, however, without touches of romance, whimsy, humor, and pathos. Where design is uppermost, the music was of phenomenal clarity and purity in style, and blocks of tone color were more discernible than poetry of conception.

Horowitz never whimpered. In the Bethoven Appassionata he led us with tremendous dynamic contrast to a climax of titanic proportions. His ingenious pedalling stood him in good stead during the variations of the second movement, which he kept clear of any sentmentality.

It was flesh and blood Beethoven, which made us wonder whether he could inbue the Brahms with its tdue spirit.

But Chopin demands something quite more than the young Horowitz gave us in the fantasy. The introduction was entirely without meaning, and not until the lovely plaint during the calmer second strophe, could we sense Chopin's poetry. The composition was devoid of unity in plan.

In the three etudes, on the contrary, music far transcended technique, and the mazurkas were of unusual charm.

Horowitz has little difficulty with the moderns, whose demands both his hands and style can easily match, and perhaps outwit.

After his Minute Waltz of Chopin and the etude of Dohanyi, given as encore, the audience was willing to concede him everything, for they were glorious music played with the fire of youth, than which there is nothing more rousing in all music.

AWARD BALLOT CONTRACT

The contract for the printing, binding and delivery of official ballots for use in November election was awarded to the Pittsburgh Printing Company by County Commissioners yesterday. The contract was $19,950.

Before awarding the contract, the Commissioners stipulated that the ballots be finished and delivered to the Commissioners' office in ample time for distribution to the different election districts in the city and county.

This year 508,100 official ballots, the largest number required for a presidential election in many years, will be printed. The total registration, according to figures submitted by the county statistician, was 472,-254. On account of the number of boroughs and townships in the county holding bond issues next month, the local ballot will be the biggest in the history of the county. Special sized paper, 26 by 38 inches, will be used to print the ballot. Other counties in the state will use the regulation size ballot furnished by the state. This size is 24 by 38 inches.

Two White Girls Seized in Raid on Tong Chief's Home

OPIUM SET FOUND IN DORMONT SWOOP

When three city sleuths tore into the home of Yee Haim, Hip Sing chief, at 2531 West Liberty avenue, Dormont, early today they expected to find a half-dozen imported Chinese gunmen and an arsenal for gangsters for use in the tong war. Instead, they collided with two pretty girls.

So they testified in Morals Court today when the girls were arraigned along with Haim—another chapter in the attempt to stop the tong warfare that has broken out nationally.

Betty Leonard, 20, and Elizabeth Leonard, 15, sisters, were the girls. Betty admitted she had been living at the Dormont address, but promised Magistrate A. D. Brandon that she'd go to work "if I get out of this." The sleuths testified Betty had told them she was really Mrs. Haim, but Betty said today she wasn't.

Haim was described as the owner of a downtown Chinese cabaret and as the chief of the Hip Sing faction in Pittsburgh.

The same detectives who were overwhelmed with surprise not to find properly armed gunmen in Haim's home moved from there to 519 Second avenue, where they added two opium sets and two Chinese to their collection of things Oriental.

All this activity in the Chinese colony was prompted by the shooting of Yee Foo, a laundryman of the On Leong tribe. Yee was in his North Highland avenue laundry shop Monday night. As a contribution to the investigation of Yee's wound, sleuths last night arrested still two other Chinese and are now trying patiently to decipher several letters found on their person.

Failed to Call Fore, Is Sued For $10,000

"Fore!"

That shout on the golf links is, you know, a warning to all to pay heed. Yesterday it was made the basis of a $10,000 damage suit in Common Pleas Court.

Leon H. Benjamin sued Maurice A. Nernberg. Benjamin said that while putting on the sixth green at the Schenley Park public links he was struck in the face by a ball which Nernberg had driven from the nearby seventh tee. And Nernberg, so Benjamin charges, neglected to shout "fore."

NEW BELLEVUE PASTOR TO BE HERE SUN.

The Rev. Dr. John Benjamin Magee, of Kansas City, Mo., who will succeed the Rev. Dr. Ralph B. Urmy as pastor of the Bellevue Methodist Episcopal Church, is expected to occupy the pulpit of the Bellevue church next Sunday or the week following.

Dr. Magee, who ranks as one of the leading Methodist Episcopal clergymen of the middle west, was born in Albion, Ia., 41 years ago, the son of a Methodist minister. He received his higher education in the Upper Iowa University and Boston University, his doctor's degree being conferred by the former institution.

For 10 years Dr. Magee held pastorates in New England. Since the World War he has been stationed in the West, as pastor of the College Hill Church, Wichita, Kan., and of the Trinity Church, Kansas City.

An army chaplain in France for one year, Dr. Magee was one of 20 authorized historians who wrote a history of the A. E. F. He also is the author of a book of poetry and articles in magazines and church papers. He has been president of the Ministers' Alliance of Greater Kansas City and also of the Methodist Ministers' Association.

Dr. and Mrs. Magee have four children, John, Jr., Josephine, Eloise and Peggy Jane.

DR. URMY ENDS PASTORATE

The Rev. Dr. Ralph B. Urmy, for seven years pastor of the Bellevue Methodist Episcopal Church, preached his farewell sermon Sunday to large audiences of his congregation. His morning topic was "The Christian Minister" and his evening subject, "The Christian Congregation."

Dr. Urmy relinquishes the ministry, after 32 years, to become editor of the Pittsburgh Christian Advocate, to which office he was chosen at the quadrennial Methodist Episcopal Conference in Kansas City last spring. He was called to Bellevue from Newark, N. J.

As a token of the esteem in which Dr. Urmy is held, not only by members of his own congregation, but by the community generally, several farewell receptions were held in his honor, one being in the Avalon United Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Dr. O. H. Milligan, pastor.

At the trial it was related that the defendants promised Karradakis $65,000 out of the mythical estate if he would advance $10,000 for fees said to be necessary in getting the alleged estate settled.

BELLEVUE GRIPPED BY HOOVER, SMITH CAMPAIGN

Two huge banners, bearing large letters in red, blue and black tell the story of a fervid political campaign in the North Boroughs.

One, stretched high across Lincoln avenue, Bellevue, at Fremont street, carries the legend "Hoover-Curtis Republican Headquarters," which may be found at 8 South Fremont street. A block north on Lincoln avenue across the front of a vacant storeroom is an equally bold banner on which is emblazoned "North Borough Al Smith for President Club."

Not within the memory of the oldest inhabitant have political banners before appeared in Bellevue. Never before, it is said, has there been such intense interest displayed in a presidential campaign.

Hall Refused For Workers Party Talk

DISTURB READERS, LIBRARIAN SAYS

The Workers or Communist party has been denied the use of North Side Carnegie Music Hall as a place for their presidential candidate, William Z. Foster, to speak. Librarian Clifford B. Connelley, who has charge of the music hall, which is operated in connection with Carnegie Library, told City Council he feared a meeting of the Communists might disturb the peace and quiet of library patrons. It is pointed out, however, that entrances to the library and hall are even on different streets and that there is no public means of access between them. It is also recalled that a similar Communist meeting was held in the music hall four years ago and no disorder occurred.

MANCHESTER'S CENTER OPENS FALL TERM

The second winter season's work at the Manchester Educational Center, 1522 Chateau street, is under way. The activities opened Monday night with a travelogue on China, the Philippines and Burma, by the Rev. W. Roy Goff, who showed extensive moving pictures taken by himself when visiting these countries. This was the first of a series of seven Monday evenings devoted to "travel" in the Far East.

The regular courses and subjects on the other evenings of the week follow: Arts and crafts, choral society, dramatics, eurythmics, child study, phychology, photography, English, French and public speaking. Requests for other non-vocational subjects will be granted if possible.

The work is designed for serious leisure-time students who are anxious to develop themselves and acquire a wider outlook on life. The leaders of the different activities and groups are selected from the staffs of Pittsburgh's institutions for higher learning. No fee is charged, and the sole entrance requirement is the ability to enjoy and profit by the courses.

Coming lecture subjects follow: October 22, "India and Ceylon," Mr. Goff; October 29, "Three Years' Life in Japan," William L. Nunn; November 5, "Egypt and Palestine," Mr. Goff; November 12, "Heroes of Education," the Rev. A. J. R. Schumaker; November 19, "The Chinese and Korean Peoples," Mr. Nunn; December 2, "Africa, the Question Mark of the World," Miss Zoe Thralls.

LAUNCH DRIVE FOR 'Y' QUOTA

Ten teams will open a drive Friday night in behalf of the North Boroughs Branch, Y. M. C. A., which seeks $18,000 for the work of 1929. Under the direction of William J. Montgomery, secretary of the North Boroughs "Y," the teams will canvass homes in Bellevue, Avalon, Ben Avon, Emsworth and adjoining territory, the drive being scheduled to conclude October 29.

A city-wide dinner for workers will be held in McCreery's dining room at 6 p. m. Friday, at which the North Boroughs group will be present. Local reporting dinners will be held in the Y. M. C. A. building, Bellevue, Monday, October 22; Wednesday, October 24; Friday, October 26, and Monday, October 29.

The amount sought, which is the same as last year, is apportioned as follows: Bellevue, $9,600; Avalon, $2,500; Ben Avon, $3,000; Emsworth, $2,000; outside, $1,500.

"WEALTHY AT $1 A BEATING"

Anna Petros, who owns a restaurant in Beaver avenue, North Side, told Judge Thomas D. Carnahan in divorce court that she would be wealthy if she had as many dollars as she had received beatings from her husband, John Petros, a Greek, identified with the restaurant business.

The couple were married in 1915 and everything went smoothly for nearly a year. Then Mrs. Petros went away and when she came back her husband, she says, gave her a beating because his brother had told him she was no good. Six years ago Mrs. Petros applied for a divorce but her husband won back her affection and she withdrew the suit. Now, she says, she means to end the marriage.

Lecturer

DR. ELLWOOD

The Men's Club of Second Presbyterian Church, Eighth street, will open its series of winter entertainments Thursday evening with a lecture by Dr. Robert A. Ellwood, humorist, on the subject, "Bottled Sunshine." The lecture will be free to the public in the church auditorium.

Alleged Kidnaper Freed

Sam Lintenko, 50, a huckster and the father of three children, was acquitted in Criminal Court yesterday of a charge of kidnaping 4-year-old Anthony Rutkoski, of 2849 Carey way, South Side.

Anthony hasn't been seen by his mother and two young sisters since August 20. Police have tried and failed to locate the child.

Mrs. Rutkoski and Mary 11, testified that Lintenko, a neighbor, came to their home on August 20 and asked to take Anthony with him on his huckster's wagon. Lintenko returned that night drunk and alone, the mother charged.

Lintenko denied the charge and his counsel emphasized that no motive for the kidnaping had been established. However, the jury ordered that the costs be divided between plaintiff and defendant.

KNOXVILLE WOMEN HOLD HOOVER-CURTIS RALLY

The Republican Council of Women Voters of Knoxville, Mt. Oliver and surrounding communities held a Hoover-Curtis mass meeting last night in the Knoxville Junior High School. Mrs. A. W. Paul, president of the council, presided. Assistant County Solicitor Mortimer B. Lesher was the principal speaker.

ETNA CONSIDERS NEW WATER PLANT BOILER

The bouorgh council of Etna will meet with the J. N. Chester engineers next Monday evening to consider a proposal for the installation of new boiler at the water and light plant. It was reported at the last council meeting that one of the boilers at the plant had cracked and been condemned and required replacement.

NORTH SIDE FOSTER BAN STIRS COUNCIL

Notwithstanding that William Z Foster, as candidate of the Workers' Party for the presidency, was permitted four years ago to address a mass meeting in North Side Carnegie Music Hall, a meeting which was free from any semblance of disorder, he will not be permitted to do so during the present campaign, Edward E. Eggers was in charge of the hall then; but he has since died, and Clifford B. Connelley, who succeeded him, refuses to permit the Workers' Party to rent the hall.

His refusal has brought the candidacy of Foster and Gitlow much publicity that they might not otherwise have received; for City Council has called on Connelley for an explanation and he has talked of the possibility of fear and turbulence as a reason for preventing the meeting.

Connelley asserted that the meeting might disturb patrons of the library—this, notwithstanding that the entrances to the music hall and the library are on different streets and that there is no public means of passing from one to the other.

The Workers' Party has protested against Connelley's action. Council asked City Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt for an opinion of its legality.

Waldschmidt replied that in his opinion Connelley was within his rights in refusing to rent the hall to the Workers' Party. In reviewing the question, however, the city solicitor implied that Council could overrule the librarian.

Waldschmidt pointed out that Council governed the library through its appointment of Connelley.

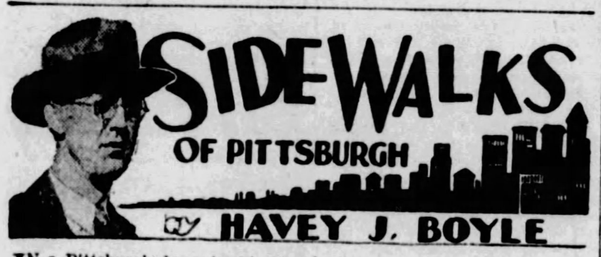
Council passed a resolution yesterday authorizing President James F. Malone to hold a hearing at 4 p. m. today for the purpose of hearing all persons interested in the application for the use of North Side Carnegie Library.

LOCK AT KELLY NEARLY READY

Within a short time, the United States engineers announced today, the new lock and dam on the Allegheny River at Kelly, 37 miles above Pittsburgh, will be opened to steamboats, and thus nine miles added to the navigable length of the stream. The new works will extend the nine-foot stage of water to Kittanning, which is 46 miles above the point at which the Allegheny debouches into the Ohio.

Work was started on the lock contract on March 23, 1927, and on the dam contract on October 29, last. It is a fixed dam and is No. 6. Only one of the six is movable. The total cost of the new works is about $1,600,000.

No formal opening of the dam is planned.



IN a Pittsburgh department store is a young man who is learning the business from the bargain basement to the rugs and lamps, high up. He took a college course and then asked for a job and said the salary was of no importance. What he wanted was a chance to work in every department of the store. He has gone through three or four departments so far and is still going strong. He figures that by the time he is 30 he will know every nook and cranny in the establishment and that if the officials are looking for a bright young man to take complete charge, or any part thereof, he will be ready.

One of the store's merchandise men was telling us about this young man and the merchandise man, upon being questioned, ventured the opinion that the department stores offer careers as interesting and as remunerative as any line you can think of.

* * *

THE old prejudice celebrated in songs and similar fiction against the so-called ribbon clerk, our friend told us, has disappeared along with the album on the marble-topped table in the parlor. Good pay and a chance for rapid advancement to the ambitious are offered in the big stores of the country. The reputations of good men spread and frequently there are calls from other cities for the experts who know how to move merchandise.

* * *

The gentlemen who at present are cleaning the Henry W. Oliver Building probably are achieving that old ambition "to do something big."

* * *

WE WERE considerably surprised to read the following in a local Polish paper: Sarajewo, Bosnia.—Pewna firma amerykanska pupila 150 letni dab, znajdujacy sie w tutyeszym parku miejskim.

Until we ran across this item it always had been our impression that it was 140. It just goes to show one learns something every day.

In one of the news reels in town Milton Crandall (who remembers the marathon dance?) is seen acting as a sort of secretary to Mayor Bossy Gillis, of Newburyport, who at the present time is behind the bars for something or other. The Pittsburgh impressario has two schemes in mind, spies report. One is to book Bossy Gillis in vaudeville when Bossy is "at liberty" and the other is to stage a talking marathon. Contestants will be allowed to sing, read aloud or talk. The champion of Europe has set a record of 400 hours, talking steadily.

THE police force has its minor tragedies: A former lieutenant who was always dapper now is wearing the uniform of a patrolman and his beat is a night patrol in one of the most isolated parts of the city.

Will Rogers Says

NEW YORK, N. Y., Oct. 17.

Well, we've opened our show. Putting on a Fred Stone show without Fred is about like Ringling bringing in his circus and announcing that he is sorry but that the elephants, clowns and horses were not with it.

Lindy attended our opening to pay his respects to the clever daughter of his fallen aviator friend.

That's been Fred's greatest worry, that his fall, given such wide publicity, might injure the game, but an accident like that might happen to anyone.

Hoover opens here next Monday night. It's pretty tough for us getting six-sixty when the other candidates are showing all over the country for nothing.

Their leaders even conscript people to make 'em go in and listen to them.

Yours, WILL ROGERS.

STOLEN LOVE by HAZEL LIVINGSTON

Bill Meets Rollo Keyes, a Rich Lad, Who Is Drunk, And Drives Him Home

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Joan Hastings, seventeen and beautiful, living with two old maiden aunts in a house long run to seed, hears the tragic story of her unmarried mother's love affair and death from Aunt Evvie, who warns her not to follow in her footsteps. Joan, lonely and impressionable, falls in love with Bill Martin, whose social status is far beneath her own. The aunts plan to send her away to school, and she and Bill, terrified at the thought of parting, let their emotions get the upper hand. Bill is arrested, the victim of a bootlegging gang, and Joan, frantically asking for money to bail him out, confesses to her aunts her relations with him. Horrified, they put her on a train, bound for school, in charge of a woman friend. They denounce Bill and persuade him never to see her again. Joan slips off the train, and Walter Dunne, a kindly motorist, gives her a ride back over the two hundred miles. She arrives at Bill's home a little while after he has kissed his mother goodby, leaving no address. Through Dunne, she goes to live with Maisie Kimmer and gets a job in a department store. She writes Bill, but receives no answer. Her aunts hear that she has never reached the school, and Evvie telegraphs the woman to whom she entrusted her that Joan took a later train, after being left behind by accident at a way station. Having assured herself that this lie is admissible, Evvie washes her hands of her niece.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

IT WAS 50 words, and it came collect by Western Union. Joan wasn't on the train. Mrs. Marden was distracted. The conductor feared a tragedy. They would make every effort to get news. The conductor was wiring back along the line. And would Miss Van Fleet wire instructions at once.

Evvie read it through twice. She knew. She was no fool, Evvie. She went into the library and wrote her answer. On the way back to the office Ditweller read it. It was quite short, and it was to the effect that Mrs. Marden and the conductor could stop worrying. Joan got off the train in the early morning to post a letter, and the train went on without her. Joan had wired her aunt Postal Telegraph, and she was going on with the next section. The cousin would meet Joan in Philadelphia.

"You should be ashamed to spend all that money to telegraph a lie," Babe cried when she heard. "Besides, she'll come back to—to find that boy—and then—"

"I can't help it—I wish my hands—"

"But they'll live here. Evvie. He'll marry her—we'll have to see them every day. I'll never hold up my head again—never!"

"He'll never marry her. She'll never see him again!"

"Evvie—you think you're always right. You can't tell. I tell you he'll be waiting for her."

Evvie smiled. "Tink as you like. But I'm telling you—he gave her up. I—I talked him into it." Her lip curled. "It wasn't hard. He's big—but he's only a boy."

CHAPTER XII.

BILL was bumming his way South. Not that it mattered which way he went—North would have done as well.

A brakeman booted him off the freight train somewhere near Salinas, so he walked the rest of the way into town and spent his last cent for coffee and doughnuts.

After that he walked around aimlessly for a while, with his hands in his pockets. It occurred to him that he might as well work his way to Los Angeles, he had never been there.

Work his way, how? It was still too early to "work in the fruit" and he had made up his mind about one thing—he wouldn't stay in a city. Oh, well—he'd be on his way.

He thought of Joan, miserably. "I wish I had a cigaret!" he groaned. "What a fool I was not to get the money Milt owed me—"

He was back on the road. Headed South. Evvie Van Fleet had been right—he was a bum—no good—no money—no job—nothing—

He looked back over the long moonlight road. His hands were in his pockets, with the keys, and the old knife with the broken blade.

"Don't quite forget me, Johnnie . . . keep on remembering . . . till I can come back . . . and show 'em . . . show 'em what I can do—"

* * *

It must have been very late, for traffic had stopped. Once a bus whizzed by, once a moving van, speeding, swaying from side to side. That was all. He had the road to himself.

He came upon a parked car in the ditch by the roadside suddenly. It had no lights. Surely it was deserted—stopped there—alone, at that hour of the night.

He looked in the window.

"Don't shoot—for God's sake—don't shoot—here"—a hand came out the window—"take the whole works!"

A watch and a wallet were laid in his hand, a head with tumbled hair and mild, inquisitive eyes, appeared in the window.

Bill almost laughed. "My jail sentence must have made me look like a yegg or something!" he thought, and aloud he said: "What's the big idea—I'm no holdup!"

"No?" the young man in the car looked at him with even greater interest. "In that case"— He put the wallet back in an inner pocket, struck a match and looked at the watch. Three o'clock. Hell of a time for a social call. Don't happen to be a rescue crew, do you? Got a tow car?"

Bill grinned. It was only a boy, and a befuddled boy, whose breath reeked of alcohol. "No, I'm no rescue crew," he said, "but I suppose I might give you a hand. "What's wrong?"

"Everything," replied the stranded one. "Everything but gas. Got plenty of gas. Just thinkin' of makin' a bonfire of her. What do you say? Like the idea? Blow her up—get me?"

Bill opened the door and came in. "Let's have a look."

"Have a drink first. Share my last drink with you. That's kind of a guy I am. Keyes is the name—Rollo Keyes. Hell of a name. Wished on me. Here—help yourself. Good stuff."

"I'll have a look at her first, thanks. French car! Don't know much about this"—

He began to "look her over" with real interest.

Rollo Keyes blinked at him through his large shell-trimmed glasses. "Have a good time," he said hospitably. "Betcha you can't do it!" And he had another little drink.

The engine was running smoothly when he woke Rollo an hour later.

"How much did we bet?" Rollo asked amiably.

"A ride into town, I guess," Bill grinned.

"Y'know—I like you," Rollo said. He clapped Bill on the back. A sentimental tear coursed down his high-bridged nose.

"That's the kind of fellow I am—true friend. Now we'll go home."

Bill offered to drive, but Rollo wouldn't hear of it. He drove expertly, with elaborate caution. At train crossings he got out and looked up and down the track. "Always look out for the cars," he said thickly.

Toward daylight Rollo's hands relaxed. He brought the car to the side of the road. "Now you take 'er," he murmured. "Hundred and fifty-one Marina Drive . . . Pasadena . . . Pasadena, California, United States, America. . . ."

He pitched forward into Bill's arms.

Bill took the wheel. He was very tired and he didn't like the idea of taking the boy home. His people might think—might think anything. But what else could he do?

To his surprise nobody asked any questions when they reached the Keyes house. They took it quite as a matter of course that a stranger should drive Rollo Keyes' French car to the door, and lend a hand to carry him into the house.

Bill had a confused impression of a large square hall hung with many pictures, of a thickly carpeted inner stairway, and another hall, and more etchings.

Rollo was holding tight to his arm. "Don't go 'way—wait—wait—I'll be aw' ri' in a minute—"

"Will you wait, sir?" a man servant asked. Bill shrugged, looked down at his hands awkwardly. The man took his silence for assent, and tiptoed out of the room, closing the door behind him.

Rollo lay like a log under the silk quilt on the bed. Bill went to the window, looked out on the lawn where two airedales were playing, chasing each other, barking joyously.

"I'm in a nice mess," he muttered. He opened a door and looked up and down the hall, "can't sneak out like a burglar!" There was nobody in sight, no sound in the house. "Wake up!" he cried savagely, and shook the inert form under the quilt.

Rollo only mumbled. Bill waited and tried again, without success. He passed his hand wearily over his eyes. How tired he was. With a sudden weary gesture he flung himself full length on the bed beside Rollo. Just for a minute. Just for a minute . . .

* * *

"I thought you were in Bakersfield." Emmet Keyes said bitterly when his son dropped into the place opposite him at the dinner table.

"What a pleasant surprise for you then," Rollo grinned, helping himself to olives.

"You can't do that sort of thing!" the older man burst out angrily. "I won't have you demoralizing the help. By God, when you work for me you're an employe, not my son!

You do as the rest—no favors"—

"Yeah—that's why I quit."

"Quit!" Old man Keyes's heavy jaw dropped. "Rollo, you haven't done anything so foolish—"

Love's Beauty Contest -:- -:- By Truda Dahl

© 1928, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc., Great Britain rights reserved.

WHICH will it be? Who will be chosen Queen of Hearts? It's hard to tell, for in this Beauty Contest, Love is the judge and you know what he is.

What to you may not be lovely, in Love's eyes is the most wonderful thing in the world, so don't be surprised if the crown is awarded to one whom you and I might be tempted to call downright plain.

Just watch him! He looks every one of the contestants over so closely, but you can't blame him for that. The Queen whom he is going to select is for one certain King, and Love wants to be absolutely sure that he makes no mistake.

It's a great contest, this one which Love holds. And no matter whether you are the plainest of the plain, or the loveliest of the lovely, at sometime or other you'll be chosen Queen.

HOW TO KEEP WELL by Royal S. Copeland M.D. U.S. Senator From New York

Riches Cannot Buy Vigor and Strength

HERE is an epigram sure to excite thought: "The healthy peasant gets more joy out of life than the sick millionaire."

Thank goodness, we have no peasants in North America. But we have millions who work with their hands. Most of them, in many ways certainly, are happier than millionaires. There can be no doubt that when they are healthy, they get more joy out of life than any millionaire does when he is sick.

DR. COPELAND

Unless it is wisely used, wealth amounts to little in the giving of happiness to its possessor. I have known many wealthy men, a considerable number of millionaires. They have worries I should not care to assume. Sometimes these worries make them sick.

Health is fundamental to happiness. I'd rather be a healthy tramp, than to be a dyspeptic, crabbed, irritable, fault-finding, muscle-bound, rheumatic millionaire.

There is no excuse for the man of wealth to have bad health. It rejoices me that most of them have the good sense to guard their bodies against physical weaknesses and to order their lives so that fresh air, sunlight and sensible eating shall keep them well. Indeed, unless they do care for their bodies, the opportunities to add to their wealth will be increasingly difficult.

I suppose the author of the pithy saying I quoted had in mind the man of inherited wealth, the pampered son of luxury, the profligate millionaire. Certainly he can get little joy out of life.

It is a blessed thing that health is within reach of every man, even the peasant of Europe. Health is within reach of most of those who toil in our industries.

If a man keeps his body fit, lives decently, begets healthy children, sees them grow up in health and vigor, he can feel that God has been good to him. Even though his bank account is limited, with a strong body he has always the hope of better financial days.

I long for a social order that will permit every family to be well housed, well clothed, well fed. Every baby has a right to be born in a decent home. Every family is entitled to some of the luxuries, as well as the necessities of life.

Fundamental to all I regard as worth while is good health. There is no use having a trunk filled with gold, unless its possessor has health. Without health, the gold is no better than dross.

Crime, lawlessness of every sort, discontent, envy, dishonesty, meanness—most of these, all of these, in fact, are promoted by a twisted brain, the result of undernourishment and poor health. A clean, healthy body, with properly acting organs, and brain-cleansing purity of blood, will enable the mind to make plans for progress.

Happiness and joy are certainly the handmaidens of health. To get up in the morning refreshed and vigorous, with appetite for food and longing for work—this is better than the aching bones of one who has nothing but wealth to cheer his heart.

Let us not worry about the bank account. Let us give thought to a manner of living that will give health. Everything else that is good will be added to this life.

Love's Embers

Absorbing Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife"

By ADELE GARRISON

Dicky Shows an Anxiety for Madge's Safety

I FOUND my employer standing by the mantel in the library, his whole appearance distinctly perturbed.

"This is the most absurd farrago I ever heard," he said. "Surely this can be managed by men. You must not risk your life this way, nor must Miss Lincoln and Mrs. Underwood. I will not permit it."

There was an intensity in his voice which redeemed the arrogance of his manner. There was something flattering to my vanity also in the emphasis which he had placed upon his prohibition to me. But I knew what Lillian expected me to say to him, and I said it promptly.

"I am sorry, Mr. Veritzen," I began slowly, "but this is a matter which is entirely out of my hands. I am only an unimportant extra in this affair. The planning of it, the decision as to which part each of us is to play is in my father's hands. You may be sure that he will permit no woman to take any unnecessary risk. It is unfortunate, of course, that — Miss — Lincoln—permitted herself to be duped into carrying a message such as she was given, for it makes it necessary to have her go through with the pretense of delivering the message. But any protest against it must be made to my father through Mrs. Underwood. I should not dream of approaching him with any appeal for change in his plans."

His face was suddenly lined and old.

"Then I am powerless," he said, "for I already have appealed to Mrs. Underwood in vain."

"Please do not be apprehensive," I said. "I am sure there is no danger for any of us—the women, I mean."

"I cannot share your optimism," he said disagreeably, and I knew that he would not soon forgive me for my refusal to obey. His attitude, however, caused me little concern, and indeed, I had no time even to think of it, for with Dicky's return the next morning, I was confronted with much more drastic opposition to my taking any part in the final act of the drama.

"Look here!" my husband said roughly at the close of a long interview with my father, one from which even Lillian and Allen Drake were excluded, "there's one thing about this business that's out. You're not going to stir one step outside this house, the night this little stunt's due to be pulled off. The Princess will have to do the decoy stuff, of course—she got into this mess and she'll have to help out of it, and as for Lil, you might as well take a rattle from a baby as keep her away from the final scene. But you're not needed outside, and you're not going out there where any stray bullet might come your way, not if I have to tie you to the kitchen stove."

There was a note in his voice which I had not heard for many months, a note which held at once anxiety, tenderness, and the anger which always has been his at any association of mine with the secret service work, especially when Allen Drake is associated with the problem. And to my amazement I found a stirring of eager response to it in my own heart. Philip Veritzen's concern had touched my vanity. Dicky's rougher prohibition probed down to something deeper, though stubbornly I gave no indication of my feeling. Then Lillian's voice from the hall called me imperatively, and I hastened to answer her summons with a hurried noncommittal word of apology to Dicky.

"Thought I'd better save you a row," she whispered, and then she spoke rapidly and clearly for Dicky's benefit.

"Sorry to interrupt, old dear, but we're at a standstill until that code paper is deciphered. And you're the only white hope, you know."

"I'm going right up this second," I replied, walking toward the staircase with her.

"There!" she said with a vicious little click of her teeth as she locked my door. "That spiel will keep him guessing for awhile. Of course he was trying to play the caveman about this stunt of ours as far as your part in it is concerned, but it's too big a thing for any private consideration, so I'm afraid the Dicky-bird will have to take his temper out in pecking cuttlebone till after this thing is over. Then I'll let you tackle him yourself. But until then I'm going to mount guard over you so he can't get a chance to see you by yourself and try to exact any promises from you."

She stretched herself luxuriously upon the couch.

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN by HELEN ROWLAND

SELF-SERVING HUSBANDS

MOST men need to be "mothered." But there are some "self-serving husbands" who seem perfectly capable of taking care of their colds, their clothes and even their consciences—thus robbing a woman of her greatest thrill in life.

* * *

A woman is always happiest when she is doing something for a man—and complaining about it! When she is "sacrificing" herself for him, worrying about him or "wearing herself out" for him.

HELEN ROWLAND

The greatest boon a man can confer upon the average woman is to let her "martyrize" herself for him—and then let her BLAME him for it!

* * *

The "self-serving husband" may be a Precious Jewel, but he takes all the heart out of a normal woman by waiting on HIMSELF. He packs his own grip, assorts his own laundry and knows just where to put his hand on the aspirin in the dark. He carries his own suits to the tailor, cleans up his shaving outfit, and washes his own hair-brushes.

* * *

He even keeps himself brushed off—and you can't pick a thread off him, or a flaw in him, or an argument with him. He is positively UNnatural! There isn't a thing to DO for him!

* * *

He is so self-sufficient that he fills a woman with an inferiority complex, and makes her feel useless and UN-NEEDED. And to be "needed" is the one thing on earth a normal woman craves most. Even when she is no longer loved and cherished, she can console herself with the thought that she is still "needed" and has her niche to fill in a man's life.

* * *

But the self-serving husband never weakens; not even when he is ill and down and out. He will crawl off in a corner, roll up in a blanket, and ask nothing—but to be LEFT ALONE. He may accept a hot water bottle or a dose of quinine in extreme emergency; but he won't be "fussed over," nursed or mothered! It's a cat's life—for his wife. Nothing to do but sit around and wait to be noticed.

* * *

He won't even tell her what's the MATTER with him, or discuss his "symptoms," or let her take his temperature. He won't even groan or growl or permit her to call a doctor, when he's gasping for breath!

* * *

On the roll of Perfect Husbands, his name should lead all the rest. But, fortunately for most women, the self-serving husband is as rare as rubies and Rolls Royces. Living with him, like living in a good hotel, is easy and pleasant; but it lacks the flavor and excitement of life with a clumsy, careless, helpless grown up baby, who is always losing his collar button, cutting his chin, dropping sparks on his clothes, mussing up his chiffonier drawers and catching cold.

* * *

What the average woman wants is something to coddle and worry over—somebody who submits to her mothering and managing, her scolding and complaining, and admits to the whole wide world that he would be "LOST" without her!

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Thursday, October 18

DELAYS and postponements beset the affairs of this day, according to the rule of the stars. Under the strong Saturnian aspect with Luna it will be difficult to gain much headway, and even the progress made may involve extravagance or financial complications.

Guard against loss and sign all writings cautiously.

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year of congested conditions, obstructions and postponements. There may be financial entanglements or losses unless every precaution be taken against fraud or deception. Perseverance and thrift may save the day.

A child born on this day may require careful training in persistency, thrift and prudence to enable it to surmount obstacles to its success. Hard work and patience may enable it to win, eventually.

The darkest day, live till tomorrow, will have passed away.—COWPER.

For the Lovelorn

Blue Eyes and Brown Eyes

DEAR MISS GALE:

We have been reading the Lovelorn column for some time and think it wonderful. Now we have come to you for some advice. We are 17 years old, not allowed to have a fellow and not allowed to go to dances. We are very much in love with two fellows, which our parents know nothing about. Now, Miss Gale, do you think it is proper for us to go with these two fellows? I agree with you on the smoking, drinking and petting question. Please do not tell us our parents are right.

BLUE EYES AND BROWN EYES.

You are old enough to go out occasionally with boys, my dear. But don't meet these boys without your parents' knowledge. That is cheapening. Talk it over with your parents and tell them how you feel about the matter. I am sure they will understand.

Anxious

DEAR MISS GALE:

I am 17 years old and a junior in high school. Most of my girl friends go out with boys. I do not because I am never asked. I do not know the reason why. I am not popular with the boys. There is one boy I like and I know him only to speak to. I cannot tell whether he likes me or not, but he speaks very nicely and politely when he sees me. I would like very much to have this boy's friendship. Miss Gale, I have never been out with him, but would it be all right for me to ask him to take me to a party to which I have been invited, in what way could I gain his friendship?

ANXIOUS.

It is your privilege to invite him to call on you, my dear, but unless he seems a bit interested, don't do it. If you know him fairly well, it would be all right to invite him to the party.

Romance Flowers in Summer, Winter Time for Matrimony—Fay King

IN WINTER, WHEN ALL THE WORLD LOOKS BLEAK, A FELLOW APPRECIATES THE THOUGHT OF A COSEY HOME AND A LITTLE WIFE!
SUMMER INSPIRES ROMANCE, BUT NOT RESPONSIBILITY
IN THE SUMMER A MAN DREAMS OF LONG TRAILS THAT LEAD AROUND THE WORLD, BUT IN THE WINTER HE WANTS ONLY A SHORT PATH LEADING TO HIS OWN SNUG FIRESIDE!
FAY KING

By FAY KING

THE poets tell us that in the Spring a young man's thoughts turn to love. But I think Winter brings the more practical thoughts of matrimony.

Summer and roses sing of romance, but it takes a cold wet pavement and the blast of a freezing blizzard to sing of a snug roof over one's head and nourishing grocery bills it would be a pleasure to pay.

Summer romance is cheap. Blue skies are free, long hikes, and picnic lunches cost little, and the beautiful panorama of a Summer day stimulates thoughts of freedom.

It costs more to court a girl in Winter. Taxis, dinners and theaters, at indoor prices. He begins to think it cheaper to marry and have a snug fireside of his own.

HORNSBY-CUBS DEAL IS DELAYED

ARMY, NAVY MAY HEAL GRID BREACH

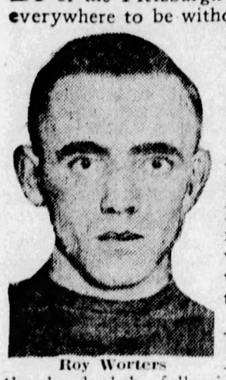
SUN-TELEGRAPH SPORTS

N PITTSBURGH WEDNESDAY. OCTOBER 17. 1928 NINETEEN

SPORT COMMENT by JAMES J. LONG

Worters to Stay as Pittsburgh Hockey Goalie—No Boxing at Duquesne Garden. Notre Dame May Have Second Stuhldreher in Carideo—Players Not Informed Of Quick-Return Pitch Agreement.

ROY WORTERS, for several years one of the star players of the Pittsburgh hockey team, and conceded by experts everywhere to be without a superior as a goalkeeper, will continue to guard the net for the Pirates during the 1928-29 season, regardless of any changes that may be made at other positions in the reconstruction of the sextet.



Roy Worters

For several weeks rumors have been going the rounds to the effect that Worters might figure in a deal. It was known that two big cash offers had been received for him, and it was said that, while he would not be sold for money, there was a possibility of his being traded for two or three other players.

HOWEVER, it is officially announced by the management of the local club, following Monday's league meeting in New York, that Worters is to be retained, and that no proposition for his transfer to another team will be given any consideration.

It is admitted, though, that the new Pirate chiefs are drawing near to the closing point in some other deals. Four new players probably will be landed before the end of the week. As previously announced, two of them are Hart and LaRochelle, and the others are said to be men of equal ability.

WITHIN the next few days a couple of releases also will be announced. Two of the Pirate holdovers will follow Charley Langlois to other climes.

Benny Leonard was unable to come to Pittsburgh yesterday, as he had planned, but is expected to arrive on Thursday, and will be in personal charge of the making of arrangements for the training period and for the opening of the season here on November 15.

LEONARD, by the way, has definitely given up his plan to hold boxing shows at Duquesne Garden during the winter. He learned that the facilities for ice-making at the Craig street rink are not such as would make it possible to put the place back in shape for skating after a boxing show without the loss of several days. Accordingly he has decided to abandon the project. There will be no fistic side attractions at Duquesne Garden, and, for one more indoor season, at least, John Hernon's Motor Square Garden club will continue to be the only organization promoting Queensberry shows in Pittsburgh.

Knute Rockne

NO OTHER football coach in the country appears to work with as much speed as Knute Rockne in bringing out new stars to replace others that have been lost. He has hardly lost one exceptional player until he develops another luminary for the vacated position.

The Navy game in Chicago Saturday disclosed that the Notre Dame mentor is developing in Frank Carideo a quarterback who appears destined eventually to rank with the stars of the country. The youngster's brilliant work, when he was sent into last Saturday's game, was the main factor that enabled Notre Dame to win. He outpunted Lloyd and Bowstrom, picked out weak spots in the Navy's defense and hammered long gains through them, and outwitted the Middies at every turn.

THE fact that Carideo is only a sophomore makes his performance unusually impressive, and when it is considered that he is a native of Italy and has been in this country only five years, it is, as Frank Graham remarked after seeing him in action, little short of amazing that he has learned to play football so well in such a short space of time.

Some Notre Dame men declare that before Carideo is graduated he may be comparable even to the great Harry Stuhldreher. Even Coach Rockne himself, who doesn't make a habit of lauding any individual player in public, does not hesitate to praise Carideo. The Notre Dame players are said to have absolute confidence in the young Italian and are at their best when he is running the team.

IN DENYING the report that Villanova College might be met in football by Carnegie Tech in 1929, Clarence (Buddy) Overend, graduate manager of Tartan athletics, made it known that the Plaid gridiron schedule for next year is almost completed. "Our slate is filled except for one game away from home," said Buddy. "There is no chance of Villanova's being booked for that date. We did consider a game with Temple in Philadelphia for the open Saturday, but that has been passed up and some other team will be taken on."

Clarence Overend

ON ACCOUNT of sharing the Stadium with Pitt next year, Carnegie Tech will play more games away from home than ever before. Four contests will be scheduled

Endurance Swim Record Is Broken

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(INS.)—Mrs. Lottie Moore Schoemmel at 6:01 a. m. today broke the endurance swimming record in the fresh water pool at the Park Central Hotel. BURNS CLUB TO MEET GLASSPORT ODDS SUNDAY

The Burns club of New Kensington, 1927 titular independent gridiron champion, will meet the Glassport Odds at Rainbow Gardens, Mc-Keesport, Sunday afternoon. Managers Roy Quinn and Grafton Sullivan met in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph office last evening and signed a contract for the meeting. The appearance of the famous Burns club in McKeesport should attract a capacity crowd. The Odds have a great following, and it has been many years since Burns went on foreign soil in the early part of the season. The game will be called at 3 o'clock and will be handled by Central Board officials.

Gives Up Blood, Then Scores Knockout

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 17.—(AP.)—After submitting to a blood transfusion early yesterday which may be the means of saving his mother's life, Freddie Penn, 18, Omaha fighter, stepped into a Council Bluffs, Ia., ring last night and in the last round of his bout knocked his opponent down four times, winning the fight.

Penn gave more than a half-pint of blood to his mother, who has been near death since Saturday. The transfusion cost him precious poundage in his boxing match, and he entered the ring 13½ pounds lighter than Clarence Berger, his opponent. Freddie's mother was reported improved today.

KNOXVILLE JUNIOR GIRLS LOSE SWIMMING MEET

Knoxville Juniors went to the South Hills pool yesterday afternoon and bowed to the home girls 34½-19½, in their fourth swim of the high school girls' league.

SERVICE ELEVENS MAY MEET IN 1930

By DAVIS J. WALSH.
International News Service.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—An Army and Navy football game, either in New York or Philadelphia, by 1930.

This prediction was being freely aired by men in both branches of the service today, even in the face of the fact that official schedules for next year have been announced and that the Army's major opponents for 1930 have been spoken for, at and with. Dissatisfaction with the existing state of armed neutrality on the two fronts has reached a point, they say, where even the die-hards of the controversy are waiting a break that will start something that really can be finished.

Commander Jonas Ingram, athletic officer at Annapolis, will go on sea duty in the line of official formality next year. This is generally conceded to be the break in question. An irreconcilable in the Army-Navy vendetta from the first, Ingram's departure will remove an influence that steadfastly has refused to condone the discrepency in eligibility standards at the two schools. His successor, it is expected, will be more open to suggestion on this subject. It is unnecessary to mention that such an attitude will have the support of every navy man the world over and, perforce, the army personnel as well.

DYNASTY TOTTERING

The Ingram dynasty, as a matter of fact, might seem to be tottering on its throne. In the face of even congressional mediation, Jonas has stood sponsor for an attitude to which many navy men probably subscribed in theory. In practice, the stand has proved unpopular because it resulted in the elimination of an opponent that represented the ultimate in significance. The burden of proof in this connection, of course, rests entirely with the Navy, since it took and maintained the initiative in the severance of relations.

Meantime, "Navy Bill" Ingram has been taking the rap for a football team which to date has played thrice and has scored not even once. The Navy, an unyielding taskmaster with its football coaches largely because your naval officer is a man of two major interests, duty and football, has blamed Navy Bill's coaching in part and the remainder on the fact that the Army is not on the schedule this year. They maintain that the lack of an Army contest has taken all of the punch out of the situation at Annapolis.

There may be something or nothing in this contention, but, nevertheless, it is admitted at West Point that they scheduled Southern Methodist, Harvard, Yale, Notre Dame, Nebraska and Stanford to give the ball team something to fight for and about this season.

In brief, both sides are conceding that an unnatural state of affairs exists. The admission carries with it the logical surmise that anything unnatural must be regarded as temporary. And with everyone concerned wishing heartily that the period of antagonism was over, it is difficult to see how the matter can be regarded in any light except a temporary one.

TUT BEATS PETROLLE

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—King Tut, Minneapolis lightweight, last night defeated Billy Petrolle, the Fargo Express, in a sensational 10-round slugging match in the opinion of newspapermen.

AROUND THE RING by HARRY KECK SPORTS EDITOR

THE fans didn't take very kindly to the announcement at Motor Square Garden Monday night that Garfield Johnson would meet Maxie Rosenbloom in the main event next Monday night. Just why is hard to figure out, for Johnson has been a fine performer ever since he came around here last year, and gave this same Rosenbloom, a smart fighter, a close tussle in the same ring. In his last start, a few weeks ago, he whipped Chuck Wiggins.

Is it because they're jealous of his success, or because of his race, or because they don't like to see him box that enough of the fans to make themselves heard gave the announcement the celebrated rawsberry?

Whatever the reason, it is a good bet that another good turnout will be in the seats when the gong sends the two big fellows into action. Some will come to see Rosenbloom and some to see Garfield, and those who do not come to see Garfield even up for his setback by Maxie last year will come to see him get another smacking. But they'll be there just the same. As Leach Cross used to say, it doesn't make much difference whether they come to see you win or lose, just so they pay at the box office. Leach made

Bush Not To Go to Tigers

BARNEY DREYFUSS, owner of the Pirates, today reiterated his denial of repeated reports that Donie Bush would not return as manager of the Pittsburgh National League club next year.

The most recent rumor that Bush is to quit the Bucs to become manager of the Detroit Tigers is published in a Detroit paper today. The report published in Detroit is to the effect that Bush told friends there that he would not return to Pittsburgh, that he had conferred with Frank Navin of the Tigers and that only salary differences had kept him from signing to pilot the Bengals in 1929.

Dreyfuss today said that Bush recently had expressed a desire to return to Pittsburgh next year and that he did not believe that Donie was dickering in Detroit. There is little or no doubt but that Bush will lead the Bucs in the next flag race, he concluded.

TECH HOLDS W.-J. DANGEROUS FOE

By JESS CARVER.

PROVING that district teams are the best drawing cards after all, even though they may have suffered defeat, unexpected or otherwise, the ticket sale for the annual Carnegie Tech-W. and J. game, scheduled for Forbes Field for Saturday afternoon, is reaching first class proportions.

When Duquesne went down to Washington Saturday and defeated the Presidents, fear was expressed that it would hurt the attendance at the game here this week. The Red and Black has always been a great drawing card here, and this year's team, despite its lack of strength as compared with other W. and J. elevens gives promise of packing 'em in once again.

Anyone who thinks the Tartans are taking the contest lightly have another think or two coming. The Plaid will not be in the very best of shape for this game. Len Schnupp will not be fit for duty, his injured shoulder having failed to come around as well as was first expected. Eyth's ankle is still bothering him. Saul Melziner, the giant lineman who had to take time out from footbil a month ago to have his appendicts carved out, is back in the harness, but cannot be counted upon for a full game.

Besides, the Presidents have the old Indian sign on Tech. In past years, Wash-Jeff teams that had no right to be in the same town with Tech teams of the same vintage have turned in victories. The Tartans have scored one victory over Wash-Jeff in history. In that respect they are tied with the Dukes.

The sting of the Duke defeat is figured to put the Presidents in a dangerous position, where they will fight back as never before. A fighting team is always dangerous, and Wash-Jeff teams are always of that ilk.

PANTHERS AT WORK

Pitt fears Allegheny!

There you have the latest news out of the Panther lair. Unless the Blue and Gold tightens its defense against the aerial game, this reported fear may really be the truth. Allegheny is coming down here Saturday with a pretty clever eleven, and while it possibly does not figure to beat the Panthers, who are better than they looked against West Virginia, it is strong enough to give the local a merry tussle.

Berger, the Homestead youth who made an eleventh hour transfer of allegiance, forsaking Pitt to enroll at Allegheny, will be in the invaders' backfield and will do a lot of forward passing. He bothered Allegheny with his heaves and ball toting, and it is safe to say that he will bother Pitt.

In Garback, the Methodists have a powerful fullback. They are strong at center as long as husky Bob Koeniger is in the ball game.

DUKES GET DRILL

The Dukes were given a fairly heavy workout yesterday to start them on their road of preparation for the game with Loyola University of Baltimore here on Saturday. Loyola is regarded as a strong foe. The boys ran over Joe Schwartzer's Manhattan College team last week and made a good showing against the more experienced Villa Nova aggregation the week previous. Coach Layden has had the Easterners well scouted. They are possessors of a fine aerial game, according to the word Layden has received.

The Dukes should draw a fine crowd at this game, despite the fact that both Tech and Pitt are playing at home. Graduate Manager of Athletics Holohan reports a fair advance sale of seats.

The Dukes received a telegram from Knute K. Rockne, Notre Dame's famous coach and mentor of Elmer Layden when Elmer was cavorting in the backfield with the Four Horsemen, or the other three horsemen, congratulating the team on its triumph over Wash.-Jeff.

"Congratulations," was all the telegram read, but that was enough.

BUFF DONNELLI

Captain of the Duquesne University eleven, who is an ambidextrous punter, one of the few in the game. He kicks with either foot and the punts travel far and are well placed. His kicking against Wash-Jeff Saturday played a prominent part in the defeat of the latter eleven. Buff also is a soccer star and in football gets off his boots in soccer fashion. He was a member of the Heidelberg team that won the National amateur soccer title.

BILL M'KECHNIE IS HONORED IN WILKINSBURG

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

The esteem in which William (Bill) McKechnie is held by his Wilkinsburg neighbors was not diminished one iota through the failure of the Cardinals to win the world series. At a testimonial dinner tendered Skipper Bill last night in the Penn-Lincoln Hotel of Wilkinsburg, McKechnie's friends assembled around him and heard many eulogies of the popular pilot of the Redbirds.

Bill paid a high tribute to the skill and sportsmanship of the Yankees. He does not wish to detract in any way from the championship qualities shown by the Americans, yet he believes that his club went up against the test after a period of dangerous relaxation. In other words, Bill thinks his team would have been a better ball club had it jumped right into the series at once after winding up the season in the National League.

A good time was enjoyed by everybody at the banquet. McKechnie requested that his friends refrain from making any present of a gift to him, after he heard a movement of this sort was under way. The Wilkinsburg folks, however, called William, Jr., to the rostrum and the son of the baseball leader was placed in charge of a huge

CHICAGO REFUSES TO GIVE UP STARS

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—William Wrigley, owner of the Chicago Cubs, is willing to pay as much as $200,000 cash for Rogers Hornsby, of Boston, but does not want too many of his present Cub players included in any deal for the famous second baseman.

Wrigley announced last night that if money were the only question involved Hornsby would be a Cub player within two or three weeks.

The Cub owner indicated an offer had been made to Emil Fuchs, owner of the Braves, but that Fuchs wanted several Cub players in addition to a cash settlement. He said he could furnish the cash, but that it would be up to Manager Joe McCarthy as to what players could be traded from the Chicago club.

It became evident the Hornsby deal had struck a snag for the time being at least, when Wrigley spoke of the players and said "It would be foolish to wreck the present Cub team merely to get one great hitter."

It is no secret that Fuchs would like to have a couple of good pitchers—and rumor has mentioned Charley Root in the deal.

FUCHS READY TO SWAP

BOSTON, Oct. 17.—President Emil E. Fuchs, of the Boston Braves, has denied a report that Rogers Hornsby, Braves manager, was to be sold to the Chicago Cubs.

"We have made no deal in which Rogers Hornsby figures," he said.

Asked if there were a chance that Hornsby might be traded to the Cubs or some other major league team at a later date, Fuchs said:

"All I can say to that is that if we can see a chance to build up the Braves by getting promising, ambitious, aggressive players, particularly young players, we'd go through with a deal that would bring them to us. Such a deal might involve any of our players."

BABE RUTH and Lou Gehrig already have picked up enough "pin money" since the series ended to underwrite a year's salary for some of the major league performers. The two great diamond artists played to more than 20,000 in an exhibition game in Brooklyn and a day or two later packed 14,000 in the Montreal park.

A rodeo was a feature of the barnstorming stunt in Brooklyn. Ruth was prevailed on to bedeck himself a la Buffalo Bill and when a horse was brought to the scene, Ruth provided the biggest thrill of the afternoon by getting astride the mount. He gave a hair-raising exhibition of riding.

WITH the possible exception of John L. Sullivan and Gene Tunney no person in sports, perhaps, has captured the imagination like The Bambino. And Babe seems not to be bored as he sibns a thousand and one souvenirs. Anything the local committee has arranged is O. K. with the big fellow who enters into each stunt with all the abandon of a schoolboy. It will be a rather sad day for baseball when he gives over his uniform.

President John Heydler of the National League and his brother officials, including the magnates, felt a heavy chagrin over the outcome of the last two championship tests between the two leagues, but it is doubtful whether any of the moguls were as full

SOCCER by NEWS TOMBIRKS

NOW that the Central Soccer League has finally put up the shutters for the season, local fans will have the District Soccer League for their Saturday entertainment. Right from the season's start it became apparent that the newly-formed loop was not going to make a go of it.

While some good clubs entered the league, the officials seem lax in getting the right kind of publicity necessary. The Springdale Magyars and Harmarville were reported to both be using the same men, and that could not last very long.

The passing of the league, however, has left two clubs, Pittsburgh and Union Switch and Signal looking for a berth in the district loop. There seems to be a sentiment among some of the managers in that league that the clubs should not be allowed in, but some of the managers should go home and feel that the aquisition of the two clubs named will make a real league, which they do not have at this time. All the petty things that cropped up at the beginning of the season should be forgotten, and until they are, soccer will not thrive.

A four-club league is a sign of weakness, and while all of us like to see Twin Boros along, the North Side club is not strong enough to offer serious opposition to the Rovers, Celtics or Douglas. Then why not rope in Pittsburgh and Swissvale, get down to brass tacks and make a real league? Competition means large crowds, large crowds means bigger gate receipts, and this is the goal for which managers are striving.

YALE MAY MEET GEORGIA IN ATHENS NEXT FALL

SAVANNAH, Ga., Oct. 17.—(AP.)—Yale and the University of Georgia probably will meet on the gridiron at Athens, Ga., in 1929, it was indicated here today by Dr. Craig Barrow, who, together with Chancellor C. N. Snelling and Dr. S. V. Sanford, of the Southern institution, met with New Haven authorities over the week-end at New Haven.

Dr. Barrow added that the committee found the Yale representatives in a receptive mood. Georgia will be ready at that time. The stadium will seat 30,000.

The matter will be definitely decided within a few days, Dr. Barrow said.

SENATORS BEATEN IN SIXTH GAME

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—The San Francisco Seals won the 1928 Pacific Coast League pennant by defeating the Sacramento Senators by a score of 9 to 5 in the sixth game of the play-off series here yesterday.

The Seals found Pudgy Gould, opening pitcher for the Senators, in the seventh inning. First Moudy, who had replaced Ruether for the Seals, was hit by a pitched ball and took first, then Johnson, leftfielder, hit a homer over the rightfield wall, scoring Moudy. After Pinelli was walked, Gould was replaced by Crandall, who let in three runs before he was replaced by Rachac.

Sheehan, leftfielder for the Senators, hit a homer in the fourth inning.

THROUGH WITH RING FOREVER—DEMPSEY

Editor's note—This is the third and final story of a series based on an exclusive interview with Jack Dempsey in which he touches on the high spots of his career.

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN.
(Copyright, 1928, by International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—"The fight game has been good to me. It has put me where I am today. For a chap of 33, I'm not bad off.

"I'm through as a fighter. I may have a real good fight or two in my system, but I'm not taking and chances. No cutting paper dolls for Jack Dempsey. I'm not going to try to come back.

"I'm proud of the friends I've made in the fight game and I hope I'll always be able to come back before the public and say 'hello' and that they will counter with a good old 'hello, Jack!'"

Jack Dempsey is talking as he strides up Broadway, nodding to acquaintances and to people who recognize him. He is attired in a neat blue serge suit and looks like an alert, athletic business man or high-powered salesman.

"How much have you made in the fight game and how well are you fixed?" the writer asked.

IS WELL FIXED

"I drew in $10,000,000 at least in the last 10 fights I fought under the auspices of Tex Rickard," replied the former heavyweight champion. "Of that amount, I got for myself at least $2,000,000. But out of that $2,000,000 I've had expenses.

"You'd be surprised at all the 'cut-ins' on a champion's share. But I've held onto plenty. They never will be holding benefits for yours truly. And some of my investments have turned out pretty well. Besides, I'm making out O. K. as an actor."

Rickard was quoted in the October issue of "The Ring" as longing for "another Dempsey." He said that of the eight world's heavyweight championship fights he has staged Dempsey participated in six of them—and played to more than $8,000,000. They "drew" as follows:

Dempsey-Willard, $452,522.
Dempsey-Brennan, $200,000.
Dempsey-Carpentier, $1,625,580.
Dempsey-Firpo, $1,177,404.
Dempsey-Tunney, $1,900,00.
Dempsey-Tunney (second), $2,658,660.

WOULD ENTER BUSINESS

In addition, Dempsey has participated in other fights that were not for the championship which ran the total gate receipts over the $10,000,000 mark.

"I like the public and I hope I'll never be too old to come before them to resume old acquaintances," said Dempsey. "I'm going to keep as young as I can and I hope I'll always be active. I simply couldn't just retire to the farm and stay there.

"Fighting spoils you for other things. I would like to get into something in a year or so, about the time I am through with the stage, that I would like and that would be worth while. Something bigger than running a billiard hall or a bowling alley. I am not fitted for business, all my youth having been given to the fight game, but I can learn. Just what I will do I don't know.

"I always will have a strong interest in sports. I never will be too old to come out and watch a good fight. Yes, I like all branches of sport. My favorite sport? Football. I used to play football. I was a center. I'm not a bad ballplayer, either. My position on the team was catcher. I played forward and center on the basketball team, too, so you see I'm not a bad all-round athlete, if I do say it myself. Of course, the big leagues never were after me, or anything like that. I think everybody who can should play basketball, because it develops teamwork more than any game."

PLANS TO TAKE REST

Dempsey said that when he gives up acting he will retire to one of his ranches for a rest, indulge in light training to keep in condition and keep his mind occupied by raising pedigreed dogs and registered cows and horses. He has three ranches near Fresno, Cal., and a $250,000 home in Los Angeles He owns a restaurant in Salt Lake City, a block of city property in Fresno and has other investments. Not long ago he sold his Los Angeles hotel for $650,000 at a profit of $100,000.

The popular former champ had reached the Times Square barber shop where he was going to get shaved for his matinee appearance. Everybody in the place saluted him and from the barbers there came a chorus:

"Next!"

TOM HEENEY SAILS FOR U. S. NEXT WEEK

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—Tom Heeney, Gene Tunney's last opponent before his retirement from the ring, will sail for America, October 24, to resume his quest for the heavyweight title.

Heeney, who has been resting in his native country since his defeat, will begin training immediately on his arrival in the United States in order to participate in Tex Rickard's elimination contests.

How He Averts a Strike; Which Employers Are Best?

By B. C. FORBES

HOW to keep workers satisfied is perhaps the biggest problem confronting American industry.

Unless this problem can be solved successfully a new order will ultimately be set up, an order demanded and brought about by the nation's workers, who are becoming an increasing percentage of our total electorate.

It would be childish to assume that nearly all workers are satisfied with things as they now are. It would be equally foolish to assume that industry has done all that it can and should do to win the goodwill of our work-people.

THE writer receives thousands of letters every year from employes.

Some—not a few—write to tell of the wonderful things done for them by their employers. Some write condemning workers whose letters of complaint have been printed here.

But, unhappily, many of the letters reveal all too clearly that discontent is not as rare as might be imagined by those whose status in life brings them into only slight contact with the working classes.

Here are sentences from one communication received from a workman commenting on our recent column on the full dinner pail:

"Allow me to congratulate you on your very fine, humane column. What is more important to the working class than a full dinner pail? I would suggest to the preacher you mention, whoever he is, that he ought to go to work and try to support his family on the wages the average person receives.

"I have seen many a working man laid off from his job after many years of faithful service just for the love of that almighty dollar. Then someone else is hired for a cheaper wage. That is done all over the country and many times.

"What we need in this country is some more Fords, Rockefellers and such wonderful builders, and less of the hard, cruel, selfish corporation managers who do all they can to keep wages low so at the end of the year they get their big $5,000 bonus for doing so. That is one of the largest problems for us working people."

THAT is one side of the picture. Here is another:

Group insurance, meaning insurance taken out by employers and paid wholly or partly by them, now protects no fewer than 7,000,000 workers.

It is figured that during this year 48,000 claims will be paid to as many workers or their families. The average amount paid will be almost $1,500.

ONLY the other day Eugene G. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, issued a communication in which he emphasized the importance of maintaining the highest possible wages.

He said, in part:

"In the last 10 years a new order has been created in our economic life. It is recognized, first, that high standards of living are based on the greater earning power of labor and, second, that continued prosperity and high wages go hand in hand.

"Progressive industrial management seeks, therefore, to enable employes to earn wages as high as can be paid. Even when profits decline or business falls off, efforts are made to economize in other ways than by cutting wages."

THIS week an executive of a large industrial corporation, while talking about the excellent qualities of the President, related this incident:

At one very large plant costly new machinery was installed on a big scale. It did away with the services of more than 60 men. These men and the other workers objected and trouble was threatened.

The president visited the plant, talked the matter over with the workers and then told them that he felt they were entitled to every possible consideration. He explained that this new machinery was necessary in order to enable the company successfully to meet competition, that it would save at least $75,000 a year.

The company could afford to use some of this saving on behalf of the men affected. Therefore, not one man would be dismissed, but jobs would be found for as many as possible of them at the local plant and for others at their other works.

Instead of the threatened strike, there was an outburst of jubilation and since then the morale of this company's working force has been such as to increase output per man.

MY observation is that the lead in instituting humane treatment of workers is being taken by large organizations more often than by small organizations. But it remains true that too many of them, large as well as small, are still too callous to the well-being of their work-people.

Callousness on the part of employers will invite callousness—and revenge—on the part of aggrieved workers. Why invite this?

abroad against five at home.

Manager Overend said that the Plaid schedule for 1929 will not differ greatly from that of 1927, as far as the teams to be met are concerned. Not counting the post-season game with Oregon State, the Plaid in 1927 encountered Westminster, Thiel, Drexel, W. & J., Pitt, West Virginia, New York University, Western Reserve and Detroit in the order named.

THE surprising statement made by Pitcher Billy Sherdel of the Cardinals that he was not informed of the agreement barring the quick-return pitch during the recent world series, is confirmed by Manager Bill McKechnie.

"Sherdel's statement is true," said the Wilkinsburg skipper when his attention was called to the pitcher's remarks. "No one knew of the agreement except Commissioner Landis, the four umpires, the two managers and and the two captains.

"AT THAT, the dispute in the final game really was not over a quick-return pitch. It arose from the fact that Umpire Pfirman, explaining why he had refused to call the delivery a strike, said he had called time because he merely thought that Sherdel was going to attempt a quick return." Some ball players may be mean enough to insinuate that the newsiest and most surprising feature of McKechnie's statement is not that the players were uninformed as to the agreement but that the average modern umpire ever does any thinking.

Jimmy McLarnin

MANY fight fans have been clamoring for mixers with a wallop, boys who have the punch to win by the kayo route, and on that account New York promoters figured that it would be a profitable move, and one that would liven things up in the lightweight class, at least, if they were to book Jimmy McLarnin against a good opponent.

But when Matchmaker Tom McArdle of Madison Square Garden received McLarnin's terms for a suggested bout with Joe Glick, he almost had heart failure. Jimmy demanded a guarantee of $17,500, with the privilege of 33⅓ per cent of the receipts, and stipulated that the weight must be 138 pounds, three pounds above the lightweight limit. So it's all off now. McArdle says he will ignore McLarnin in his plans for lightweight matches in the immediate future.

No other type of pavement can equal concrete for durability and trouble-free service.

a fortune by keeping them coming to see him get knocked for whatever sort of "goods" they had in those days.

Johnson, by the way, is setting out lines in other towns. He doesn't intend to carry all his eggs in one basket here, where they get on him for no reason at all. He has a match pending with none other than Jack Delaney at Syracuse, October 29, and another good shot in New York. If he can reverse his defeat by Rosenbloom it will help along his campaign immensely.

AMERICAN supremacy in the ring isn't as pronounced as it was a short time back. We now have a French world featherweight champion in Andre Routis, and the outstanding middleweight champion of the world is Rene DeVos, the Belgian, who has shellacked Dave Shade, George Courtney, Cowboy Willis, K. O. Kaplan and others and is waiting for Mickey Walker to give him a crack at the title. And who knows but what one of the foreign heavyweights may emerge from the eliminations as the successor to Gene Tunney? Unless we pull ourselves together in this racket, American supremacy will be reduced to a myth.

Johnny Kusic, of Youngstown, who meets Young Rudy, of Charleroi, in the semi-final to the Garfield Johnson-Maxie Rosenbloom bout at Motor Square Garden next Monday night, is a reformed featherweight with a good record. He claims to have beaten U. S. Carpentier, Babe Keller, Young Tennessee, Johnny Corbett, Mickey Dugan and Eddie Ruttman. Rudy stopped the rugged Harry Taylor, of the North Side, in their battle at Johnstown Monday night.

THE card has been completed for Jim McGirr's weekly show at McKeesport tomorrow night. He has Johnny Carey, of Erie, matched with Allen Beatty, of McKeesport, and Jackie Rodgers, of Johnstown and the North Side, paired with Howard Mayberry, of Donora, in the two 10-round bouts. Dominick Profio, of Cecil, tries his knockout wallop against Tom Harris, of Lawrenceville, in the second bout of six rounds and Mike Hogan, of the North Side, meets Joe Ribnicky, of Donora, in the opener. Mayberry knocked out Mickey Hart in three rounds and Harris fought a draw with Jackie Murray at Washington, Pa., Monday night.

Georgie Peck, of the North Side, meets Joe Colombo, of Charleroi, in a 10-round bout at Fairmont, W Va., tonight.

JOHNNY SHUPACK, of Paterson, N. J., will box Freddie Fitzgerald, of Youngstown, at Oil City next Monday night. Patsy Gallagher, of the South Side, meets Billy Wallace, of Youngstown, in the semi-final and Jack McCarthy, local welterweight, boxes Young Guido, of Sharon, and Al Radicy, of this city, opposes Jimmy Zill, of Youngstown, in the preliminaries.

Frankie Porto, of Clairton, boxes Johnny Chiodo, of Johnstown, in one of the six-round bouts on the card for the benefit of the Mercy Hospital of Johnstown, at Johnstown next Monday night. Tug Phillips, of Fayette City, and Danny Cooney, of Trenton, N. J., are matched for the 10-round main event and Battling Gizzy, of Donora, meets Tommy Lavery, of Philadelphia, in another battle.

CHUCK WIGGINS and Otto Von Porat clash in a 10-round bout featuring the opening of Jim Mullen's club at the Coliseum in Chicago tonight.

Mushy Callahan, the junior welterweight champion, who is tentatively matched to box Cuddy DeMarco in the main bout at Motor Square Garden a week from next Monday, boxes Bobby Tracey, of Buffalo, at Chicago next Tuesday night.

EIGHT amateur boxing bouts have been arranged for a smoker of the Forest Hunting and Fishing Club at St. Joseph's Hall, Sharpsburg, next Monday night.

Jack Katkish, of Lawrenceville, and Young Firpo, of Louisville, will box the windup at the Jolly Bowl, New Castle, next Monday night. Joey Goodman, of Norfolk, Va., and Jack McFarland, of Wilkinsburg, will box the semi-final.

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Too much rich food creates acids which clog the kidney pores so that they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood. Then you get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage, or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin to drink soft water in quantities; also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone can take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby often preventing serious kidney complications.

of regrets as Manager John McGraw of the Giants.

MCGRAW, 'tis said, thinks his Giants of the past two years could have "taken" the Stadium stars The Polo Grounders lost out by a narrow margin in each race and then sat on the sidelines to see the league's best representatives ride the rail.

John J. made a good job of stopping Ruth in the clashes of 1921 and 1922, his team taking the honors both years. Nehf's sharp-breaking hook together with a mixture of slow low pitching was the kind of stuff Bambino had to look at in those years. Moreover, McGraw had a certain psychology which he used when Babe came to the plate.

BILL M'KECHNIE and Jack Onslow are in receipt of their world series checks from the office of Judge Landis. There is some comfort in the financial reward to the Redbirds, the checks being for $4,181.29. In the early days of the world series a winner would feel that he was getting a princely sum if his check came even close to this figure.

And speaking of extra money, it is timely to note the fortune of the Cubs. For winning the city series with the White Sox the Bears pulled in more than $1,000 each. With their local purse added to their world series money the total jumped beyond the $1,700 mark.

THE Bears just naturally attract money and if they land Hornsby they probably will continue to draw capacity throngs. The Rajah appears to be headed that way. When the Pirates were in Boston on their last eastern trip the signs pointed to a gateway for the Braves' pilot.

bouquet, with instructions to take them home to his mother.

J. Leonard Cook, chairman of the committee in charge, introduced William B. Turner, who was master of ceremonies. One of the best speeches of the evening was made by Joe Delble, who made the presentation of the flowers. Jack Onslow, Cardinal coach, regaled with diamond tales.

A. K. (Rosy) Rowswell gave a serious-humorous address, while Sam Watters, secretary of the Pirates, also gave an entertaining talk. Jack Fogarty, Pirate groundkeeper, was on hand to honor his friend. There were many musical features, including good singing and fine step dancing.

THE PRODUCE MARKET

The demand for fruit and vegetables at the local wholesale produce district was good today and the quotations were about unchanged.

The poultry market was about steady, with the demand fair, supplies liberal and quotations unchanged.

Butter was weak. Eggs and cheese were steady. No change was made in the quotations on these markets.

Car lot supplies were heavy, a total of 747 cars being on track. Included in the arrivals were 16 cars of apples, 4 cabbage, 4 cantaloupes, 1 celery, 4 grapefruits, 32 grapes, 2 lettuce, 7 onions, 2 oranges, 2 pears, 1 peppers, 1 carrots, 22 potatoes, 2 sweet potatoes, 2 tomatoes, 1 cauliflower and 1 turnips.

Make Leaders of Tongs Responsible in Disorder

Another "tong war" is on. One Pittsburgh Chinese has been shot and he is believed to have shot his assailant.

It is up to our Pittsburgh police to let this matter go no farther. They can guard the shops of the Chinese in "Chinatown" as much as they please and there will be killings if the belligerents choose to kill. The shooting recorded was that of a laundryman in North Highland avenue, far distant from Chinatown.

The On Leon Tong and Hip Sing Tong are organizations having officers and leaders known to the police. They should be called onto the carpet by Police Supt. Walsh and told they will be held responsible for any disorder occurring. Direct action is needed to convince them that importation of gunmen who slay in secrecy and then escape will not be tolerated.

The Chinese "tongs" are said to serve a useful purpose, as a rule, being co-operative societies for the benefit of members. To the Occidental they are more or less of a mystery, but it may be assumed that the basic ideal is commendable. It is in their rivalry that the danger lies and, because they are unknown to us except in a general way, they can carry on their warfare with little danger of apprehension of the actual culprits, who are brought into town or sent into town as agencies of death.

Instead of looking for murderers after the deed is done the police should "talk turkey" to the leaders of both tongs, holding them responsible for all violence.

Some Questions to Ask Concerning Bus Fares

Council has received from A. W. Robertson, president of the Philadelphia Company, parent organization of the Pittsburgh Railways Company and the latter's subsidiary, the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company, a communication expressing willingness to place the operations of the Motor Coach Company under the jurisdiction of the Traction Conference Board.

Council previously had instructed City Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt to prepare an ordinance to bring bus operation by the railways within the jurisdiction of the traction body. When this tentative measure is received by Council for consideration Mr. Robertson's communication will be given attention. Meantime Mr. Robertson freely offers any information Council may desire relative to the operation of his company's motor coaches.

The most pertinent information Council might require, of course, is why the company should find it necessary to charge Pittsburgh bus passengers a fare 150 per cent more than is charged in most other cities. It might ask why a depreciation basis that charges off cars in four years is made an overhead burden when experience in other cities shows cars last six to ten years. It might ask why another company operating in Pittsburgh can give for 15 cents a service for which the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company charges a quarter.

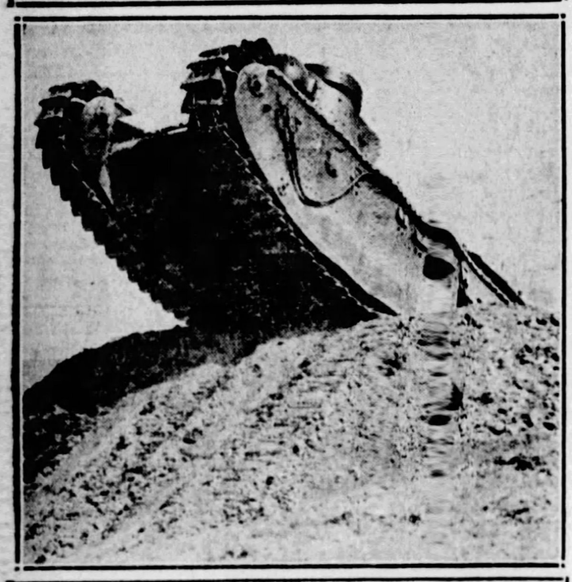
Why Bother With Cavalry?



THIS IS "BIG BOY," ONE OF UNCLE SAM'S HEAVY "TANKS"

This monster of war, a caterpillar tractor, equipped with heavy guns, fighting men inside of it, protected by thick armor, is one of the most powerful and fearful weapons of modern war.

As you see in this picture, the "tank," American invention, utilized by Europe in the great war, can go almost anywhere.

It can cross streams, climb hills, crawl over rocks, traveling safely where horses cannot go.

Such a tank as this could plough its way cruelly, remorselessly through ten thousand or a hundred thousand cavalry, mounted men and horses of the old kind.

This tank will keep going as long as its fuel lasts, horses and their riders could do no more against it than flies could do against cavalry horses.

Having this weapon, why does this country continue to spend money on cavalry and men that ride little horses, offering good targets to machine guns, and bombs from the air, soft as putty before the attack of the fighting tank? The answer is simple.

It takes men a long time to change, a long time to adjust themselves to new conditions.

When they first made automobiles, they put "dashboards" in the front, although there were no horses to kick mud against the dashboard.

When they first made steamboats, they put sails on them because they said, "What shall we do in case steam gave out, of course we MUST have sails."

Now they have the airplane, a machine costing $50,000, able to destroy with one bomb a $50,000,000 battleship, but they still build battleships.

And, having these tanks, they still equip and maintain cavalry regiments.

And, having airplanes in the air, they will for a while, at least, continue to send out infantry, crawling along the ground like caterpillars.

A few gas bombs, able to kill everything within a square mile of where they land, would, of course, soon end the infantry nonsense.

Nothing else will end it.

SKULLS are thick, HABIT is strong, military and naval dodos are many of them too old to think.

And some of them are interested in the battleship building.

So the public spends hundreds of millions unnecessarily.

Garrett P. Serviss Says:

Ptolemy the Astronomer

"Notwithstanding the law of parsimony, is there any scientific justification for the universal preference of the Copernican theory in lieu of that of Ptolemy, where the latter is in perfect accord with all obtainable data, and satisfactorily accounts for meteorological phenomena?—C. A. B., Averne, L. I.

IT IS not only by the "law of parsimony" that the Ptolemaic system is condemned, for it does not fit the facts as you suppose. Ptolemy assumed that the earth was the controlling center of the planetary system, with the sun as well as the planets revolving around it. This was the essential base of his theory. He also assumed that the planets moved in circles. Both of these fundamental assumptions we know to be wrong, for all of the planets move in ellipses, a fact which is established by other observations than those apparently accounted for by Ptolemy's theory. Three remarkable phenomena, unknown to Ptolemy, combine to demonstrate the falsity of his assumptions, viz.: the annual parralax of the stars, the aberration of light, and the annual shifting in the position of the lines in the spectra of the stars. All of these phenomena arise from the earth's motion around the sun.

The annual parallax is an apparent revolution of each fixed star in a small ellipse, which may be described as a miniature of the real orbit of the earth around the sun. Aberration is the apparent displacement of the stars arising from the combination of the velocity of the earth in its orbit with the velocity of light in space. This is usually illustrated by considering what happens if you run through a shower of rain in which the drops are falling vertically. The combination of your motion forward with that of the drops downward causes them to strike you in the face as if they came slopingly toward you from in front. Similarly, the earth rushing through the flood of light from the stars is met, as it were, in the face by the rays of light, coming in at an angle which is directly proportional to the ratio of the earth's velocity to the velocity of light.

The other phenomenon is of a similar nature, but we need not discuss it here. Aberration alone is sufficient to prove the orbital motion of the earth, for from it not only the velocity of the earth's motion is determined, but also the size of the orbit, or the earth's distance from the sun.

Since the fundamental assumptions of Ptolemy's theory have been upset by modern discovery, there is, of course, complete "scientific justification" for rejecting his system in its entirety, and accepting the Copernican in its place, for the latter is in accord with all the observed facts.

You speak a good word for Ptolemy, and you are right in that, because he was a great astronomer for his time. He showed great ingenuity and perseverance in his efforts to explain the mechanism of the heavens, and he wrote a textbook on the subject which remained an authority for 1,500 years. He made many valuable observations which were not erroneous in substance, and only went astray (as is still the case in science), when he undertook to fit a theory of his own invention to the facts of nature. He furnishes another example of the truth that the theories of science are only stepping stones which have to be rejected from time to time to make room for better ones.

"Say It Ain't So!"

ONE of the displeasing phases of history is the manner in which it is shattering our pleasant illusions. Nero did not fiddle while Rome burned, they have told us, nor did Washington chop down a cherry tree. Lucretia Borgia may not have been a prisoner after all and Steve Brodie did not jump from the Brooklyn Bridge.

Under all these assertions we have clung the closer to the few romantic legends that remain, but here is something that commands contradiction. The Department of Agriculture proclaims that sauerkraut was not invented in Germany, but was probably of Asiatic origin. The learned historians would have us believe that Chinese first concocted the succulent dessert. We don't believe it. The Department of Agriculture must be thinking of the chop suey, which is not to be mentioned in the same breath!

Aloofness

DO you feel that your family is growing away from you?

As head of the home you find yourself looked upon more and more as the money earner, and not as a confidant.

You are seldom consulted—you are asked for money.

You are not told how it is to be spent unless you demand it.

Perhaps years ago you used to become irritated when certain expenditures were proposed and talked about.

Naturally, to avoid quarrels, your family refrained from discussing future desires, which involved getting money from you.

And so you have yourself to blame for their attitude of aloofness in speaking of their financial needs.

It is not as it should be, but it is a fact, that there is not close companionship when a family cannot talk sympathetically together about money matters.

When the members of a family cannot discuss such matters in a dispassionate way, it means dissolution of the family.

A well regulated family needs to feel free to express desires and you should be able to present your position to your family in such a way as to win confidence.

But fear of ridicule, lack of sympathy and justice bar you from hearing a free expression of the views of your dear ones.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELS

Love's Eyes

LOVE'S eyes alone can catch the fleetest glance
Of answering love and read the message sent;
Love's eyes can pierce the mazes of mischance
And find, unfailingly, the pure intent.

From all the world some good may be concealed,
Some sweet and kindly trait, some splendid gift;
But to the eyes of Love it stands revealed
Like woodland flowers when passing sunrays drift.

Then how could life bestow a boon more rare,
And who could ask or wish a dearer prize,
Than to be blest by finding all things fair
Because of seeing all things with love's eyes?

Great Passages from the Bible

Boast Not of Tomorrow

(Proverbs 27; 1-17)

BOAST not thyself of tomorrow; for thou knowest not what a day may bring forth.

Let another man praise thee, and not thine own mouth; a stranger, and not thine own lips.

A stone is heavy, and the sand weighty; but a fool's wrath is heavier than them both.

Wrath is cruel, and anger is outrageous; but who is able to stand before envy?

Open rebuke is better than secret love.

Faithful are the wounds of a friend; but the kisses of an enemy are deceitful.

The full soul loatheth an honeycomb; but to the hungry soul every bitter thing is sweet.

As a bird that wandereth from her nest, so is a man that wandereth from his place.

Ointment and perfume rejoice the heart: so doth the sweetness of a man's friend by hearty counsel.

Thine own friend, and thy father's friend, forsake not; neither go into thy brother's house in the day of thy calamity: for better is a neighbour that is near than a brother far off.

My son, be wise, and make my heart glad, that I may answer him that reproacheth me.

A prudent man foreseeth the evil, and hideth himself; but the simple pass on, and are punished.

A continual dropping in a very rainy day and a contentious woman are alike.

Iron sharpeneth iron; so a man sharpeneth the countenance of his friend.

Tales that are Told

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

PEOPLE that wait till they get to the theater to do their quarreling ought to be throwed out, I reckon, but they hardly ever are. Anyhow, I heard of a couple of lovers the other night that was going over all the past lives of both of them, and they kept up such a buzz that the folks behind them and at both sides of them and in front of them wasn't getting much for their money. So a man from behind reached over and tapped the guy on the shoulder.

"See here," he says, "we can't hear a word back here!"

"Well," says the young man, getting madder than he already was, "I'm talking to my girl here, and you're not supposed to listen! Why should you know all our private affairs, anyhow?"

A Queer Animal

A TEACHER in an East End school was giving her class a lesson on various kinds of animals.

Later she questioned her pupils to see whether they had been listening to the lesson.

The camel, the elephant, the cow, and the lion were described more or less accurately.

"Now, who can tell me what a bison is?" asked the teacher finally.

A small boy stood up.

"Please," he ventured, "a bison is a thing what yer wash yer 'ands in!"

Taking Precautions

THE benevolent old lady was interviewing a gentleman who had but recently been released after a sentence for burglary.

"Well, my good man," she said, "I hope that during the period you were confined you had time for meditation and have decided to correct your faults."

The hard case lifted his eyes from the carpet and looked his questioner straight in the face.

"You bet I have, mum," he answered jovially. "Believe me, the next job I does this baby wears rubber gloves."

New York Day by Day

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—New York has been glorifying the racketeering gangster into the absurd proportions of a popular idol. His silence when caught is ballooned into a code of honor. Every policeman knows the gangster is a rat and squealer at heart.

He does not squeal simply because he fears the deadly penalty. Give him air tight protection and he will always tell all. His first thought is to save himself. He never goes to kill alone, but with a pack, and he rarely gives his foe the slightest of sporting chances.

The gangster's method of murder is to surround a lone and helpless enemy with automobiles filled with machine guns, slaughter him and race away. The racketeer also displays his craven cowardice by exacting tribute by threats from small merchants who have been in America scarcely long enough to know the language.

Even the bravest will not go on a killing expedition without priming themselves with drugs and liquor. When one of the guild dies with his boots on the funeral becomes a pageant of flowers and a mile long parade of carriages.

This mawkish sentimentality is inspired by fear. Those who fail to send flowers or attend the last rites know they are inviting the underworld frown. The late Frank Yale made those he ruled by terror buy a brand of cigars named for him. They were three-centers selling for 20 cents each.

And the shopkeeper who did not buy regularly soon found his shop shot up and his trade driven away. All through the East Side merchants who are barely able to make a living must buy tickets weekly to "phoney benefits," the proceeds of which are spent lavishly on Broadway by these "brave" racketeers.

The merchant who is strongly intrenched and fights back is seldom molested more than once. The racketeer fears the strong and preys on the weak. Once the legend about him grows too big and he lifts his head above his mentors, they "take him for a ride."

Mayor Walker's home, tucked away in the idyllic quiet of St. Luke's place, is in one of the most restful spots in all New York. The Mayor's house is No. 6, one of a solid block of similar brick houses with stone steps, basement dining rooms and small lawns hedged in by iron fences. The houses face a public playground across the street. In front of the Mayor's home are the customary mayoralty lamps, and directly opposite is a police booth with a uniformed officer on constant duty. The Mayor's neighbors are mostly working men and women with a sprinkling of the artist types of Greenwich Village. He also maintains an apartment uptown. His telephone exchange, incidentally, is "Walker."

More than 300 hotel awnings were destroyed by fire this summer, due to careless tossers of lighted matches, cigar and cigaret ends out windows. A stage box is zero in comfort under any circumstances. Due to a late arrival, I was ushered into one the other evening, whose sole occupant was an imperious lady with a dog collar of pearls, a lorgnette and the dignity of a swan on the placid waters of a lake. I sat cowering in mouse-like silence in a darkened corner. Shortly before the curtain fell she turned and inquired sharply: "Alonzo, where the hell you been?" She thought I was her husband. I'm unequal to such situations and after a foolish whinnying laugh I sneaked back among the S. R. O. railbirds, where I was more at home.

The Insoluble Mystery

By DR. FRANK CRANE.

The insoluble mystery is the creation of life. At one time scientists supposed they had accomplished it. But other scientists came along and showed that their tubes were not clean or their water not boiled. Minute living organisms had spoiled their experiments.

Nobody has yet succeeded in making a living thing out of what was not already alive. All the Frankenstein stories are pure imagination.

Dr. Victor Coffman, research authority, stated the other day that in his opinion we must always stop short of the development of synthetic life in the complex form of man.

Science has done and is doing many wonderful things. The towsled-headed scientist was formerly sneered at as a useless and superfluous member of society. The soldier, the priest and the business man were supposed to be the big boys of the family, the scientist an idle dreamer.

Nowadays the scientist bids fair to be the most important man among us. By his means it is said that every citizen of the United States has command of powers enough to say that he has 60 servants.

The scientist has shown us how to run our trains and trolleys, to use the telegraph and telephone, to light our houses, to alter the dyeing and perfumery business, and even to wage the most deadly kind of war with gases. He seems to be, in the American language of the street, "the candy kid."

As Dr. Coffman says, science may harness the sun to produce sugar, may turn the waste of the present year into the foods of the future, may apply life to living organisms and to aid in the growth of others, but it cannot produce life.

Science has made great strides in the production of fuel. When our supplies of petroleum fail we shall be able to use liquid fuels made by the distillation of coal. If coal fails us we can make alcohol from cellulose or from water gas.

In England and France great strides are being made in searching for a chemical agent that will store up the heat of the sun for us.

They have already collected minor quantities of sugar from the light of the sun's rays.

But what life is, whence it comes and whither it goes is as much of a conundrum now as it was in the days of the cave man.

Right Angles

By ALEXANDER CAIRNS

Are You Sure?

A COMPANY of the beetling-browed literatti sat around a London banquet table intent on making the famous Belshazzar feast look like a Coney Island sandwich, when the conversation turned on the inanities of English pronunciation.

And one major domo of pedagogies, who carried a 40-foot shelf of tones in his head, proffered this:

"It is a remarkable thing that the word sugar is the only word in the English language where s-u is pronounced like s-h."

And a keen-eyed woman put the ponderous profundity into a parachute by replying:

"Are you s-u-r-e?"

All of which is intended as a saccharine coat to the pellet that it is well to be sure before pronouncing libelous charges against a defendant before the bar of the public assize.

Daniel Webster is not my choice as the best idealism for American youth. I forget not that he bid for the slave vote of the South and the free vote of the North in his ambition to be President, and so lost both; that Whittier wrote his poetic indictment, "Ichabod," about him; and that Wendell Phillips poured out golden eloquence in his resentment against the placing of a statue of Webster in the open square of Boston.

But Webster was an American Disraeli and Demosthenes, and now and again there is unearthed a tale of him that rings with nobility.

Once upon a time a fellow barrister chided Webster for not paying his debts, and the great man replied that the charge was true. But he pleaded for clemency on the ground that people who owed him didn't always pay up. As an example of which he inclosed a canceled note which this very lawyer's father had given to Webster years before, when he had borrowed money from him to send his son, this very lawyer, to college.

Most of us are not putting in bids for a few gross of such embarrassments to be included in our biographies. That lawyer is welcome to his humiliation.

Clara Barton, immortal saint of the battlefield, was accused by prying noses of having appropriated Red Cross funds in trying to identify the dead on the battlefield. This was not authorized. Where did she get the $10,000 she spent for this purpose?

Then she told her attorney that her brother "and another" were in the 1849 golden rush and after two years the brother came back and brought with him $10,000 from "the other." She had put it in the bank and never till now had she found a cause sacred enough to demand its use. Then mothers all over the nation cried for the identification of their dead and the sacred fund was used.

It is not a bad rule to follow—"Are you sure?"
